June 25 Bond Issue to Seek $6.25 Million to Remodel High School

"This school is worn out," a Princeton High School sophomore told an architect not long ago, and the Princeton Regional Board of Education would like to restore the worn-out fabric with a $6,250,000 restoration and reconstruction.

The final cost of renovating the old building was revealed Monday night at a PTO meeting held at the school. Voters will decide whether to approve the project at a special bond-issue referendum to be held Tuesday, June 25.

Taking the sophomore's comment and multiplying it, the board has come up with a theme for its referendum campaign: "1,000 Reasons Why." The school is to be renovated for a student population of 1,000, so the board and the architect, J. Robert Hillier, feel that there are "1,000 reasons why" such renovation should be undertaken.

Winthrop Pike, school board president, reminded Monday's PTO audience that the original cost estimate for the Option Two remodeling job was $4.5 to $5 million. Inflation has blown the figure up to the present $6,250,000, and the board has built into that amount $446,000 "escalation" money as protection against inflation between now and December of this year, when contracts will be let.

(Option One -- construction of a wholly new building -- would be twice the cost, Mr. Pike said: $13,000,000. Option Three was a minimal, patch job of deferred maintenance repairs.)

"It's hard to delete any one item from the $6 million figure," Mr. Pike observed, "It's a total package."

Basically, plans call for re-aligning existing spaces and doing an overall refurbishing to get the most out of the education program at the school.

Although that program requires 222,000 square feet of building, it now uses about 265,000 square feet in a scattering of locations. The renovated high school will contain 220,000 square feet.

Building what is essentially a new school within the old Gothic shell will cost $24 per square foot. Mr. Pike pointed out that the cheapest school construction in New Jersey is now $37 per square foot. A new school would cost $50.

Construction cost for the renovation is $4,954,000; $195,000 is for site work; $337,000 for architects' and engineers' fees; $40,000 for legal fees; $248,000 contingency; $446,000, escalation; $225,000 furnishings and the rest for administrative costs and the like.

Board figures show a $68 per year tax increase on a $50,000 house. Precise comparative figures for Borough and Township houses are difficult to calculate, school officials point out. The Township assesses at about 96% of true value, whereas the Borough's assessments are around 66%. Also, if the Borough completes its announced 1974 revaluation, present figures will be outdated.

Economic factors and the needs of the community have been taken seriously into account, explained PHS Principal George Petrillo to the PTO audience, and he added, "We feel that the community itself will

Ground-Breaking Planned Monday for 240 Units Of Middle-Income Housing, Ending 6-Year Wait

Ground-breaking ceremonies will be held next Monday—Memorial Day—at 4 for PCH Village, the 240-unit middle-income, low-income housing project in the Township. The site is on Bunn Road, off Terhune, and the public is cordially invited to show up. Rain or shine.

It has been six and one-half years from the idea to the ground-breaking. Theodore Vial, PCH president all that time, estimates that construction can be completed and tenants in, about two years from now—18 months, if all goes well.

The Village has been designed by associated architects Agle, Short and Holt, Morgan, Schwartz. There will be 71 one-bedroom apartments in a six-story building; 69 two-bedroom apartments; 86 three-bedroom apartments and 12 four-bedroom units arranged in townhouse clusters, occupying "fingers" of land extending into the woods.

Families will be in the under-$12,000 a year category. Some apartments will be set aside for families eligible for low-income housing.

People who live in Princeton now, former residents forced to move because they couldn't afford to stay, and people who work here but live elsewhere, will be eligible. No applications are being accepted yet.

Step Is Significant. The ground-breaking has significance beyond Princeton, points out Alvin Gershen, who has been housing advisor to PCH from the start.

"Here is Princeton, the 'affluent suburb', making a policy determination to provide housing for an economic cross-section," Mr. Gershen says, "low-moderate housing, at a time when, nationally, such programs have been turned off. It's really significant."

Exclusionary zoning problems are nationwide and many communities are being "banged over the head" by the courts to provide such housing, he observes. "Exclusionary zoning" is the term used to describe zoning in which towns deliberately keep lot-sizes large, or rule out multiple housing entirely as devices for excluding lower-income families.

"But Princeton has acted without litigation, overtly, exercising the prerogatives of local government. Other towns have backed into it. But here, we chose the area—and it's a good geographic location—we have a well-conceived plan and we did it because we WANT to."

This Is* Princeton

Cost Is $8.6 Million. PCH Village received on April 10 a mortgage commitment of $8.6 million from New Jersey's Housing Finance Agency. The figure includes $6.4 million for construction and the rest for purchase of the 35.5-acre site. Rentals will pay off the low-interest mortgage. Money will come from the sale of tax-free bonds. PCH isn't, in the end, the pioneer its founders had originally hoped: both Lawrence Township and Englewood have similar state-sponsored projects.

PCH, Inc. is a non-profit corporation formed for the purpose of building moderate-income housing. Members are 18 Princeton churches, educational institutions and community organizations.

PCH has invited all kinds of public and private officials to Monday's ceremonies, including James Floyd, former PCH trustee and later mayor of the Township, now a resident of Cleveland; John D. Wallace, another Township mayor during the six and one-half years of incubation; both present mayors: Jay Bleiman of the Township and Robert W. Cawley of the Borough; Golda Gottlieb, chairman of the housing sub-committee of the Princeton Regional Planning Board and Hans K. Sander, chairman of the board and Karin Slaby, executive of the Princeton Housing Authority.

Governor Brendan Byrne has been invited—as a resident of Princeton, according to Mrs. Marianne Rees, vice-president of PCH—and so has Patricia Q. Sheehan, Commissioner of the Department of Community Affairs and William Johnson, head of the Housing Finance Agency and his staff.

Early members of PCH's board, no longer residents of Princeton, have also been invited. They include Leonard di Donato, Seymour Alpert, and David Hapgood. Former board members still living here are also expected to attend.

Ground-breaking is, in a sense, only symbolic because the Robbins Contracting Company of Union, has already been on site. Erwin Kaplan, project boss for the company and an ardent nature-lover, has been exclaiming over the beauty of the wooded, rocky terrain, and carefully staking out the ground to be sure that trees are saved.

DON'T PARK HERE

Says West Windsor. If you've been pulling up on somebody's West Windsor lawn and leaving your commuter's car there all day long while you work in the big city—your hour has struck.

Now that West Windsor's 419-car parking lot has opened and is in business, the township has begun enforcing "no parking" regulations on streets around the Penn Central railroad station in Princeton Junction. Strict enforcement is the rule, and some commuters have complained about receiving a parking ticket a week since regulations went into effect.

"The station is a regional problem and not the sole responsibility of West Windsor," said Mayor William Stuart this week in a tart letter to mayors of all neighboring towns and officials ranging all the way from the governor, New Jersey's two United States senators, the Department of Transportation and legislators of both houses to freeholders and the county planning board.

"Continued and increasing pressure on West Windsor to provide more blacktopped areas for car parking makes little sense," Mayor Stuart continued. He made no concrete—or even blacktopped—proposals except to ask that representatives from surrounding towns meet with West Windsor Township Committee to discuss the matter.

He points to clogged access to the station, and warns that implementation of the Federal Air Pollution Act next year "raises severe questions concerning the impact of large numbers of cars."

The new West Windsor Parking Authority has issued stickers to its member cars, whose owners pay $6.50 a month to use the lot. It is on the Philadelphia, or Princeton, side of the station. The Authority has over-subscribed the lot by 75 or 80 memberships, according to Mrs. Anita Mount, who will become acting clerk of the Township July 1. Visitors see empty spaces in the lot, but many memberships are owned by people who may go to New York only two or three times a month. A waiting list has been cut down to about three months, Mrs. Mount says.

Two commercial lots operated by the Maiden Lane company, hold 800 cars at a fee of 36 cents per day. Mayor Stuart estimates that only 15 percent of all parking spaces are occupied by West Windsor residents.

The area around the railroad station is included in the Planning Board's present Master Plan deliberations, and a public meeting has been scheduled for next month to reveal West Windsor's plans for the future. A sub-committee of the Planning Board, according to Mayor Stuart, is investigating alternative forms of transportation which might bring commuters to the station.

"We don't want to blacktop all of West Windsor," Mrs. Mount says.

Retrieve VW from Lake. That ad showing a Volkswagen is so air-tight, it will float—it's true.

Early last week, Township police pulled a 1967 red VW from Carnegie Lake which they found floating near the Faculty Road boathouse, after receiving a 6:12 a.m. call from Princeton University police. The ignition was on and the car in gear, Lt. Richard V. Steiner reported.

Police identified the owner as Barbara L. Melchor of 123 John Street who told them the car had been stolen from Autobahn Motors on Route 1.

High School Bond Issue

benefit from this renovation." "Makeshift" and "inadequate" were words the principal osed to describe many of the facilities – or lack of facilities – in the present school. "Impossible!" was another word.

"Our program is continually being revised," he said, "we have offerings now that were unheard-of when this school was built in 1928. We need useable classroom space, special rooms for various needs, and activities space."

From Gym to Library. Perhaps the most dramatic remodcling proposed by Mr. Hillier and his staff associate, Joel Spaeth, is conversion of the present girls' gym and its Smithsonian locker-rooms into a two-level library and media center, with an existing rooftop made into a small outdoor reading-room. This move requires construction of a new gym to replace the old, and the architects propose that PHS will end up with a standard gym for competition sports, and a medium-sized gym for teaching purposes.

The other dramatic change is creation of a student activities center by arching a glass roof over an existing courtyard, "converting unuseable outdoor space to useable indoor space," in words used by Mr. Spaeth during his slide-presentation to the PTO.

Two lounges presently used by PHS students are controlled by cliques, Mr. Spaeth commented, and the big, new student center is designed deliberately to be open to all, "although it can still support groups," he added.

A Lively Place. Architects and school alike hope that a snack-bar, bookstore, recreation space and lounge will be agreeable enough for after-school use, "a place to go after the last bell," Mr. Spaeth said, "a place to let off steam, a lively place that doesn't now exist."

Incidentally, Mr. Spaeth is available to give his slide-show to any group in town whose members want to know more before the June 25 bond-issue date.

In the slide presentation, he shows the boys' team-room, "where you have to wear a helmet" because the ceiling is so low; science labs with antiquated sinks; the present library with students crowded together and sitting on the floor; corridors with a San Quentin look. ("We hope to make the corridors exciting," is the architect's observation.)

Some facilities – and the word is laughably incongruous, because almost nothing is "facile" in the present building -- are below state standards. The library is far below New Jersey's minimum standards, and so are the spaces alloted to physical education. Industrial arts is said to have the oldest metal shop in the state.

Outside the building, visitors and students alike know the constant snarl and knot of traffic and inadequate parking. The circular drive between auditorium and tower door will be eliminated and so, therefore, will be the screech of tires. ("Greasers do use the property quite adequately," is Mr. Spaeth's dry comment.) A "people-related" terrace is planned for this area, perhaps with an outdoor classroom area and a pit amphitheatre.

Covered bike racks will be disposed around the building, for students who ride in from different directions. Student parking for cars will be kept behind the cafeteria. Houghton Road parking will be re-aligned.

Timing a Major Factor. Returning to the bond-issue and its impact on the Princeton community, the dark side of the picture emerges. Timing is most unfortunate, Mr. Pike has observed.

Governor Brendan Byrne's financing proposals, outlined this Monday, could cost Princeton the $500,000 it receives in state aid for schools. That could add another $100 a year in taxes for the Princeton householder, to make up the difference. Mr. Pike is optimistic, however, that a "safe-harmless" provision might mean that districts now receiving state aid, even minimal state aid, which Princeton receives, would not be immediately removed but would, perhaps, be phased oot.

However, the dark side of the present PHS building remains. In the "Decision Day – June 25" brochure, in the mail to Princeton voters, the school board quotes a Princeton High alumna who said that "Princeton High School is one of the prettiest in the state – of course, I have not been inside in many years...."

If she stepped inside the present tower door, she might well join the sophomore in saying, "This school is worn out!"

READY, DOG OWNERS? Borough Has Control Ordinance. Prowling close to the midnight hour last Tuesday, Borough Council introduced an ordinance to keep dogs from prowling at any hour whatsoever. Cat control is part of the measure, also. Public hearing will be held Tuesday, June 11, at 8 p.m.

The ordinance states that no dog shall be allowed off the owner's premises at any time, day or night, unless the dog is on a leash and "accompanied by and under the control of, a responsible person." "Premises" means cars as well as real estate. The prohibition is for the whole 24-hour day.

The cat population is given somewhat freer rein. The health officer is authorized, under the ordinance, to take into custody any cat in a vacant building, "where such premises are habitually occupied by three or more cats."

If the health officer gets a written complaint that an animal–dog or cat–is a public nuisance, a hearing is scheduled before the health officer, for both owner and complainant. Animals pronounced "vicious" are to be muzzled, as well as leashed.

Dogs off the premises can be picked up by the health officer and taken to a licensed veterinarian. Neither dogs nor cats are to be allowed around schools, public playgrounds or public swimming pools.

In other matters, Council introduced the salary ordinance providing for across-the-board 7.5 percent increases for Borough employees who are not on the police force. Police will come under a separate ordinance. The 7.5 percent figure is overall: it does not mean that each employee will receive that amount. Public hearing will be June 11.

An ordinance authorizing $9,000 for installation of a traffic light at Washington and Prospect was also introduced. The Borough will pay for the light, and the University will re-imburse its cost. Construction, in advance of installation, will widen the intersection to allow for a right-turn lane. Public hearing June 11.

RAIL STOP ADDED At Princeton Jonction. Revamped train schedules aimed at improving the balance of service for Penn Central Transportation Company's North Jersey suburban service will become effective this Sunday.

The new schedules were developed in cooperation with the Commuter Operating Agency, New Jersey Department of Transportation. Special emphasis is being placed on improving late evening service between Trenton and New York.

In the only change affecting Princeton area commuters, train 3847, which leaves New York at 5:33 p.m., will have a Princeton Junction stop added to its schedule. New timetables noting these and other minor changes are being distributed at all Penn Central stations in New York City and northern New Jersey.

Petitions from 700 Result in Change of Plans to Widen Great Road

Backing down the narrow, rural road, Township Committee agreed Monday night to ask its engineer for a re-design of Great Road reconstruction, after hearing protests of plans to widen and reconstruct a stretch of the road. The portion extends from where old and new Great Roads meet, to a point about 100 feet north of Ridgeview.

In two petitions—one from residents, one from drivers living in the Princeton Borough and West Windsor, Hopewell and Montgomery and places in between—approximately 700 signatories characterized the segment of road as rural, and quite different from the Great Road's southern portions.

Widening, they said, would have an adverse affect on the character of the area. It was, in fact, only a "mechanical application" of a long-ago Master Plan, and a desire for symmetry, even though different parts of The Great Road are different.

Residents of The Great Road present in Township Hall—about 20—agreed to donate land for construction of bike paths along the road, a gesture which deeply touched Mayor Jay Bleiman, who praised them for their offer.

State Funds at Stake. But Mayor Bleiman warned that the re-design asked of Engineer Joseph Hodak may mean that the state will turn down the Township's request for state money. With Mr. Hodak, he will meet state officials next Wednesday to talk about it.

The mayor acknowledged that Committee never reviews the engineer's road designs, and added, "perhaps we should." The present Great Road is about 20 feet wide. Mr. Hodak's plan would widen it to a 26-foot cartway with seven or eight-foot shoulders and a bike path, "a 44-foot swath," in Mayor Bleiman's words. The engineer will try to effect an improved Great Road without undue widening.

When the Friends of the Princeton Environment asked for a new approach to roads, Committeeman Abbot Low Moffat agreed. The Township will begin to examine more carefully, he assured the audience, the needs of the community for roads, balanced against the needs of the environment.

TOPICS
Of The Town

How did the widening project ever come up in the first place Committee was asked. Mr. Moffat explained that The Great Road is regarded as a "major collector," serving the northwest reaches of the Township, as well as the Hopewell and Montgomery areas.

Action Delayed. In other business, Committee tabled the Zoning Board's recommendation to grant a use variance to William Bucci for construction of a new-car agency next to Nini Plymouth on State Road. Permitted uses in the S-2 area, Mr. Bucci's attorney Thomas C. Jamieson Jr. reminded Committee, are such installations as lumberyards, enterprises involving heavy trucking and garages.

Automobile agencies aren't permitted but neither are they forbidden, he said. He told Committee that the Callahan auto agency, across State Road, had appeared at the Zoning Board hearings to protest Mr. Bucci's plans.

The Nini and Callahan agencies are the only two in the zone. Both are prior, nonconforming uses.

The fact that they exist, Mr. Moffat told Mr. Jamieson, doesn't necesasrily mean that other agencies can come in anew. He also said that the former Township Planning Board deliberately left out agencies in permitted uses because it didn't want approaches to the community lined with automobile sales yards.

Drawings Completed. Schematic drawings of recreation areas on the north side of Community Park have been completed, the mayor announced, and submitted to the Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission and to the state, both in preparation for application for Federal funds.

The Prospect-Riverside bus stop has been shifted from Riverside to Prospect, at Committee's direction, and a second bus stop designated at the Shopping Center (between Dairy Queen and the Sherwin-Williams building). Committee's June 17 meeting will be devoted to hearing public comment about the new bus system.

Committee authorized its attorney to negotiate for purchase of land for the PCH Village sewer at a cost of $5,950, so appraised by real estate agent Karl Light.

Looking ahead to the holiday after Memorial Day, Committee granted permission to the Princeton Battlefield Society for a discharge of muskets at 11 a.m. on the Fourth of July. Musketmen will be members of the Egg Harbor Guard, Reactivated.

Mayor Bleiman designated this week First Aid Week and Small Business Week.

"YES" TO MERGER

From Board of Health. The Borough Board of Health cast a unanimous—and historic—vote on Tuesday night in favor of a single, consolidated Princeton health district. The vote was 5-0, Dr. Dudley Hawkes absent, but unofficially recorded as in favor, also.

The resolution now goes to Borough Council which must pass an enabling ordinance. The Township Board of Health and governing body must go through a parallel process and both ordinances must be passed within six months. After passage, a full calendar year must elapse before the single, consolidated health department can start to operate. This means January 1, 1976 as the earliest date.

Only half a dozen attended the board's meeting, including one member of the committee currently engaged in studying full municipal consolidation.

Questions were largely financial ones. Under a consolidated set-up, for example, the state requires that costs be borne by Borough and Township under the rateables formula. At present, this means that the Borough pays 34% and the Township 66% Using the current figures, the Township would pay $16,155 a year more, the Borough would pay $16,155 a year less.

Health board member Louise Bessire suggested that the Township has found the cost of a full-time, licensed health officer so high, that the burden of the 66% might not seem heavy to bear. No health officer had been willing to apply for the Township's full-time position, Mrs. Bessire told the board unless the salary were at least $25,000.

The Township has settled happily for a part-time officer, but has explored the possibility of merger with Montgomery, Rocky Hill and West Windsor in order to solve the budget-health officer problem.

More Money Possible. More money might flow to Princeton from the state under consolidation, board members suggested, because health department staff would have more time to develop the new programs required before state aid is forthcoming.

What new programs? asked board member Dr. Gavin Hildick-Smith.

Robert Powell, Borough Council member who is board of health liaison, listed air-pollution and fuller health screening of children and the elderly, and Mrs. Evelyn Geddes, of the board, predicted that some of these programs may eventually be mandated by the state.

The whip-sawing of a single community with 2 boards was revealed unintentionally when Dr. Gilbert Falcone, dentist who treats school children, told the board that, contrary to newspaper reports, he does not treat Township children under the schools' indigent dental health program. Only Borough children are referred to him by school nurses, he said.

board chairman, said she understood the Borough's dental health program applied to all school children and she was sure the Township Board of Health thought so too. Dr. Facone said he had personally aided Township children not covered by the program, and was working with the hospital's dental staff to try and get the system changed.

The Township does not now qualify for any state aid because it has fewer than 25,000 and no 1960 licensed health officer. Under merger, the combined municipalities would receive about double what the Borough alone now receives, health board members calculate.

A unified board would also, members agreed, have an easier time dealing with doctors and the Medical Center. David Blake, health officer, protested that the senior citizen screening in December was dictated by doctors who told the board how many screenings, what they would be for, and how many hours would be allowed. Mr. Powell reminded him that the screening provided "more service than we had demand for."

BOARD MEETS QUIETLY

But Controversy Lingers. For the first time in weeks, the Princeton Regional school board met Tuesday without any emotionally charged issues on its agenda. The result was a short meeting, filled with staccato pleasantries and encomiums, and almost—but not quite—devoid of controversy.

After plowing through the items on the agenda in rapid-fire fashion, board president Winthrop Pike opened the floor to questions and comments. The final one came from an eighth-grade student who appeared to surprise most of the board and audience by speaking out against the board's reconsideration and reappointment of Miss Virginia Euell as Middle School principal. The student, Siri Huntoon, submitted a statement that, she said, was supported by 40 of her classmates at the John Witherspoon School.

Until that moment, the board's meeting provided no reminders of the bitter fight over Miss Euell's appointment, which was first rejected, 5-4, and then passed by a similar margin. The meeting was sparsely attended and centered on the referendum on the high school renovations, the release of the statewide testing results and the application of 12 Princeton teachers for state "minigrants" for conducting innovative classroom programs.

Statewide testing results will be released to the press next Tuesday, in compliance with state law. "In general I think Princeton schools come out very well," said Charles Huchet, director of student services, by way of preview.

Then Siri Huntoon read her statement, which asserted that the cause of the board's reconsideration "could only be one of crippling under pressure." She continued: "It bothers us if the decision to reappoint her was either a political move or a move the school board was forced into making." She asked if the board could explain its reversal.

After the meeting J.B. Smith, the board member who changed his vote, approached Miss Huntoon and two of her classmates, Bonna Horovitz and Ann Derbyshire, and said, "It was a tough decision, but I didn't respond to any racial pressure. I felt after studying the matter this was the best way to go."

The girls said they did not support Miss Euell's application for principal in the first place. "We like a principal who understands our problems," said Miss Huntoon.

"She should try to communicate with the kids," added Miss Derbyshire.

"All the kids," said Miss Horovitz. "Not just some of them."

DRUMS, BUGLES, FLAGS

All Coming Friday. The annual Memorial Day parade sponsored by the American Legion Post No. 76 will march down Nassau Street to the Washington Battle Monument and Borough Hall beginning at 7 o'clock Friday. The Legion reports that 25 bands and organizations will participate in the parade.

The parade will form on Princeton Avenue and then march onto Nassau Street. Among the participating units are the Princeton Borough Police Color Guard; the Saints Drum and Bugle Corps of Fords; Black Watch Junior Drum and Bugle Corps of Willingboro; the Royaleer Mountees All-Girl Drum and Bugle Corps; and the Masonic Lodge, Khufu Temple Mounted Patrol.

Once at the monument, "America" will be played by the Patriots Drum and Bugle Corps of Cranford. Frank Tylus, master of ceremonies, will introduce American Legion Commanders Salvatore Baldino of Post 76 and John Brown of Post 218. A Memorial Day prayer will be

The Four-Day Week

A holiday weekend
That comes late in May
Is just the right moment
For sunshine and play.

How long can the best stretch of weather this year has known so far last? Higher humidity, for example, is on the way, following the unusually cool trend that has seen early-morning thermometer readings around 50.

But even with rising heat and humidity, the Man hasn't said out loud that much precipitation is heading in this direction. At mid-week, he was calling for clear skies right through the weekend, and everyone was hoping his call would be heard in the right places.

offered by the Rev. Leon Gibson of the Mount Pisgah A.M.E. Church.

Following the placement of the Memorial wreath by Commanders Baldino and Brown, the Post 76 firing squad, commanded by William Haupt, will discharge a volley of fire. Taps will be sounded by James R. Conant.

Mr. Tylus will conclude the program with breif remarks. The Rev. Monsignor J.J. Endebrock of St. Paul's Church will deliver the Benediction.

Services will also be conducted at 9:30 Sunday morning at the Princeton Cemetery and at St. Paul's Cemetery. As part of the Memorial Day observance, the American Legion posts have also placed more than 1,000 American flags on veterans' graves in St. Paul's, Princeton, Penns Neck, Kingston and West Windsor cemeteries.

3 STUDENTS ARRESTED

In Campus Drug Raid. Three Princeton University students have been arrested by Borough police and charged with drug violations in the aftermath of an early morning raid on the campus by Borough Police.

Lawrence O. Snead III, 20, Dodd Hall, was charged with possession of about two pounds of marijuana, possession of Dexidrine and intent to distribute. He is free on $1,000 bail.

William P. Watson, 20, 1939 Hall, was charged with possession of more than five grams of hashish, and Perry C. Evans, 19, 1915 Hall, was charged with possession of more than 25 grams of marijuana. Both are free on $100 bail.

Chief Michael Carnevale said that two bags of powder seized in Mr. Snead's room have been sent to the State Police laboratory for identification. Also confiscated, he said, was $243, pipes, chemical agents for testing narcotics, a scale and weights.

Eight police in four teams took part in the 6 a.m. raid: Lt. John J. Bellow, Sgt. Thomas Michaud, Det. Timothy Huizing, and Patrolmen Ronald Holiday, Charles Harris, Victor Fasanella, Anthony Ranfone and William Fitch. Each arrest team was accompanied by a University proctor.

Each team carried a search warrant signed by Judge Philip Carchman. A fourth warrant was executed for a room in 1942 Hall, but Chief Carnevale reported that no drugs were found and the occupant was not charged.

The investigation was begun about a month ago by Det. Huizing of the Borough's narcotics squad, investigating a link, Chief Carnevale commented, between the University and the sale of drugs to youths in the Princeton community. He was quick to point out that police had uncovered no evidence that the three arrested in Friday's raid were involved in the sale of drugs to high school students.

Chief Carnevale did maintain, however, that there is a "transfer of drugs from the campus to Princeton youths...there continues to be a definite link of university-related drugs over-flowing into the hands of local people."

"There is evidence," he concluded, "of a lot of drugs in town—on campus and off campus."

Det. Huizing signed the complaints against the three university students. Mr. Snead and Mr. Watson face possible sentences of up to five yars in jail and $15,000 in fines.

More Drug Arrests. There were three more arrests relating to drugs in the Borough last week.

Wayne M. Connaughton, 19, of Kendall Park, was stopped in his car at Nassau and Moore last Wednesday and charged with possession of 47 Dexadrine (an amphetamine) tablets; possession of 180 grams of marijuana and with intent to sell.

He was later released in $2,000 bail, pending his appearance in court June 19. Det. Huizing and Ptl. Charles Harris were the arresting officers.

David P. Crawford, 21, Riverside Drive, was apprehended by Sgt. Robert Anderson and university proctors Thursday afternoon in the area of Hulfish and Witherspoon.

He was charged with possession of more than 25 grams of marijuana and released in $100 bail for an appearance in court June 19. According to police, Mr. Crawford was observed near the Firestone Library by proctors, who called police after allegedly seeing him in possession of marijuana. Crawford then fled down Witherspoon Street.

Again on Thursday, Det. Huizing and Ptl. Harris stopped a car on Bayard Lane at Boudinot and, investigating, allegedly found a cellophane bag on the floor of the car and another in the shirt pocket of the driver.

They arrested James S. Marzolf, 20, of Blackwood. He was later released on a complaint summons after being charged with possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana.

TWO DRIVERS INJURED

In Wiggins St. Crash. Two Princeton women were injured—not seriously—when their cars traveling in the opposite direction collided last week on Wiggins near Jefferson.

Zee Rocker, 43, 23 Gordon Way, sustained bruises to the forehead; Rachel P. Soffen, 42, 95 Longview Road, received lacerations and contusions. Both were treated at the Princeton Medical Center. Their cars were extensively damaged and had to be towed.

Mrs. Rocker was issued a summons for careless driving by Ptl. Victor Fasanella. From interviews with witnesses and from evidence left at the scene, Ptl. Fasanella noted in his report it appeared that the Rocker car struck the left front fender of the Soffen car when the former failed to keep in its lane.

The impact caused the left front tire of the Rocker car—a 1974 model—to burst and send the car out of control. It jumped the curb, knocked down a street sign and continued on before coming to rest against a tree in front of 62 Wiggins. There were no skid marks at the scene. The mishap took place at 10:46 last Wednesday morning.

3 Broken Teeth. Marjorie Rothberg, 15, 43 Gordon Way, suffered three broken teeth and lacerations of the lip and inner mouth after her bicycle and a car collided last Wednesday at Linden Lane and Hamilton Avenue. There were no charges against the driver, Felice Nini, 19, 27 Pine Street.

Ptl. William Fitch reported that there were no lights on the victim's bicycle but noted she was wearing a light blouse and a street light on the corner was working at the time of the mishap—9:03 p.m.

The cyclist, traveling on Hamilton, told pulice that as she came to Linden she saw a car enter the intersection very fast and she made a sharp right to try to avoid being hit. Ptl. Fitch quoted the driver as saying the cyclist came off the sidewalk into the middle of the street, where they struck each other.

Removal of Many 10-Hour Meters Set as Shuttle-Bus Rides Near

The 10-hour meter, that safe refuge for boss and secretary alike, may not be a refuge for many much longer. The Borough plans to eliminate 126 of these meters as one way of enticing all-day parkers to the Jadwin parking lot and the shuttle-bus into the Central Business District's offices and shops.

Council introduced the necessary ordinance last week. A special public hearing will be held next Thursday, May 30, at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall. Here's the lot-by-lot plan, as outlined in the new ordinance:

Witherspoon Street lot: 136 meters will be two-hour; 20 will be 10-hour.

Chambers Street lot: 54 meters will be two-hour; 10 will be 10-hour.

Trinity Church: all will be 10-hour.

Tulane Street West: all will be two-hour.

Park Place West: 62 will be two-hour, 13 will be 10-hour.

Park Place East: all will be two-hour.

In the half-hour category, Tulane East (behind Princeton Savings and Loan) will have five and Witherspoon Street will have 15.

In the one-hour category, there will be 9 in Tulane East and all in Palmer Square East, behind the post office.

The 42 10-hour meters on William Street will be unchanged. The 12-hour meters on University Place near the railroad station will also be unchanged.

Rates will also be changed. Ten-hour meters will go up to $1.25 from the current 60 cents, broken down as follows: 5 cents for each 24 minutes; 10 cents for 48 minutes; 25 for each two hours.

LADYBUG IS TARGET Of Shoplifters. The Ladybug, 16 Nassau Street, was twice visited by shoplifters last week.

Andrew W. Rawson, 24, of Trenton was arrested Thursday afternoon by Sgt. Ralph Procaccino who charged him with shoplifting a pair of women's slacks and a pants suit with a combined value of $61.99. Rawson has a June 19 date in Borough court.

Two days earlier, Ptl. William Fitch arrested a 17-year old Township girl, charging her with shoplifting a shirt and pair of socks valued at $17.50. She was later relased to her parents.

Car Larcenies. Township police report the entry of two parked cars last week.

Bruce Piper, 41 Wittmer Court, told police that someone foced open his car while it was parked overnight in front of his house and stole an 8-track car stereo player, a pair of speakers and three tapes. He placed his loss at $75.

Pat Nemoto of Lawrence Township lust $13 when her wallet was removed from her pocketbook which she had left in her car. She told police that her locked car was in the Community Park lot but that she had left a window ajar to let heat escape. Ptl. Robert Nielsen investigated both thefts.

New Section of Route 195 to Link Trenton Area with Jersey Turnpike

A five-mile section of Interstate Route 195 in Mercer County will be dedicated and opened to traffic Thursday, May 30, at 10:30 a.m. It will provide direct access to the New Jersey Turnpike from Trenton.

Transportation Commissioner Alan Sagner and other officials will open a symbolic road barrier at the ceremony, to be held on the eastbound lanes of Route 195 at the Yardville-Hamilton Square Road overpass.

The newly-completed section provides two 12-foot lanes of travel in each direction, separated by a wide grass median, from Arena Drive and South Broad Street, Hamilton Township, to interchange 7A of the Turnpike in Washington Township. Full interchanges are provided at Yardville-Hamilton Square Road and U.S. Route 130.

Invitations to the ceremony have been sent to federal, state, Turnpike Authority, county and municipal officials. The public also is invited. Motorists may enter Route 195 at Arena Drive just north of South Broad Street, and drive one mile to the ceremony site.

In July, another two-mile section of the Trenton-to-the-Shore freeway is expected to be completed, from the Turnpike eastward to Allentown, to provide almost 20 miles of uninterrupted expressway driving to the present eastern terminus of the road at County Route 527 (Cedar Swamp Road) in Jackson Township, Ocean County.

The new section being opened was built under two separate contracts, totaling $20 million, with 90 percent funded from the Federal Highway Trust Fund and 10 percent by the State.

Route 195 is planned to connect Interstate Route 295 near Trenton with Route 38 at Route 34 in Monmouth County and thus link the State Capitol Complex on the Delaware River with New Jersey's central and seashore communities.

INN QUESTION: The Princessville Inn, a landmark on the Princeton Pike halfway between Harney's Corner and Princeton, may be razed to meke way for an office building. Or it may be preserved as a National Historic Site. The question is whether or not the Mercer County Cultural end Heritage Commission can arrange to buy the old tavern from its present owners, a Trenton realty firm.

EIGHT ARE FINED

In Borough Court. Eight Princeton area residents were fined Monday by Judge Philip Carchman in Borough Court.

Elizabeth Huber, 75 Carter Road, was fined $20 for speeding; Virginia Baunach, Millstone Apartments, $20 for careless driving; Deborah Gilwood, 33 Braeburn Drive, and Gerry Kessler, 52 Heather Lane, both $20 for red light violations; David Dickey, 104 Jefferson Road, $20 for failing to yield while exiting from a private drive; and Mrk Landauer, 20, 50 Aiken Avenue, $22 for speeding.

Two paid two fines: Alex Kinnan, 518 Ewing Street, $35 for speeding and $15 for late inspection, and Walter K. Foster, 740 Kingston Road $20 late inspection and $10, no license or registration in possession.

In Township court last week, Judge Carchman fined Terrie L. Austin, 142½ Hodge Road, $20 as an unlicensed driver and William McClellan, Fountain House, Lawrenceville, $20, for careless driving.

In criminal court, Roy D. Gobel, 83 Main Street, Kingston, paid $15 each on two separate charges of assault. Choong-book Jang, 1106 Lawrence Court, paid $15 for the same offense. Both men pleaded not guilty.

INN'S FUTURE WEIGHED

Historic Site or Office? Unless money can be raised soon to buy it from a Trenton realty firm, the Princessville Inn, an old travern on the Princeton Pike in Lawrence Township since the early 1800s, will be demolished and replaced by an office building.

The possible demise of the inn, which has been known at various times as Mershon's Tavern and the Red Tavern and is now used as apartments, was first the concern of the Lawrence Historic and Aesthetic Commission. It urged the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission to write to the present owner, the Bet-Max Corporation of Trenton.

In his letter to the realty company, James M. Sears, chairman of the county commission, said: "There is a possibility that funds might be available for the acquisition of the Princessville Inn and for its restoration. We are confident that, as responsible businessmen with a true concern for the preservation of our precious American heritage, you would be willing to enter into negotiations for the sale of the Princessville Inn and certain surrounding property."

Betty Dean, president of Bet-Max, has replied that her firm would be willing to negotiate, and that no date has yet been set for demolition of the building. The problem, of course, is money.

A spokesman for the county commission was quoted as saying that the commission has no money for such a purchase and that it can only lend "moral support" to the Lawrence Historic and Aesthetic Commission. Another spokesman, however, said the county is planning to build a recreation area near the site and might buy the Princessville Inn and surrounding area instead.

Historic Site Nominee. Located halfway between Harney's Corner and Princeton, the inn was known as W. Mershon's Tavern in 1850. In 1875 Israel H. Pierson was the tavernkeeper. A Methodist Episcopal Church which once stood beside it was moved to Baker's Basin after 1875, but the church's cemetery is still there.

The inn has been nominated for inclusion in the National Registry of Historic Sites. Those interested in helping to save the inn should call the county commission in Trenton, 989-8000, ext. 293.

If You Care for the Fete Saturday, June 1, Princeton Hospital Can Care Better for You

If you are in the mood next Saturday, June 1, to make a bid on an antique soda fountain, complete with two sinks and four spigots, or to ogle a 1937 Cord Phaeton or a modern-day belly dancer, or to listen to a rock band or eat fried chichen, or to play a computer game devised by some RCA scientists, and to help raise money for the Princeton Medical Center at the same time, then the 21st annual Hospital Fete is the perfect place for you.

This year's extravaganza has been nicknamed "A Honey of a Fete" and boasts several new attractions. Chances are strong, however, that this fete will be not much different from the 20 previous ones in two respects: It will be a good show and it will raise a substantial amount of money for the Medical Center.

Just how much revenue each booth yields is kept confidential. Fete spokesmen do say that the proceeds do "rise steadily and astonishingly, fair weather or foul." This year, like last year, the proceeds will be earmarked for capital equipment at the hospital.

Last year Fete funds helped make possible improvements in the operating rooms, the nursery and cardiac care unit, and also the purchase of a mamography machine for early detection of breast cancer.

Major Factor. "Fete proceeds in 1973 were a major factor in enabling us to dedicate more than $130,000 to the purchase of urgently needed capital equipment," said Walter Seligman, vice-president of the Medical Center.

One of the primary sources of funds this year will again be the auction, which annually provides about 20 percent of total Fete revenues.

Supervised by auctioneers Lester and Robert Slatoff, the items on the block include the aforementioned soda fountain, a free-standing sauna requiring no plumbing, antique curly maple chairs with rush seats, an xylophone, carved French chairs with cane back and Bittersweet velvet arms and season, a creamy white beaver coat in excellent condition, and much more. Brass candelabra. Snowblower. Pewter coffee service. Etc.

Ballet and Bluegrass. Not everything will cost money. The Fete legion of volunteers has arranged a day-long program of entertainment that will run as follows: 10:15, Story Theatre with old and new fairy tales; 11, East Windsor Township Intermediate Dance Band; 11:45, Princeton Ethnic Dancers; and 12:30, Fordham Road Blues Band.

Also, at 1:15, Sweet Adelines, women's barbershop music; 2, Louise Plano, belly dancer and YWCA instructor; 1:30, Princeton Ballet Society; 3:15, Louise Plano; 3:45, Princeton Opera Association; and 4:30, Deer Creek Canyon, bluegrass music.

All day long antique and classic cars will be on view in the dance tent at the southern edge of the Washington Road Fete site. Vehicles on display will include Ralph Wilcox's 1916 Wilcox truck; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Maxwell's 1910 Maxwell, painted in the appropriate yellow and black; Herb Hagans' 1936 Ford Tudor; Eric W. Sorenson's Bugatti coupe; William DiCurcio's 1937 Ford Phaeton; Carl Zellers' 1911 Hupmobile; and Barry Rednor's 1902 Curved Dash Oldsmobile, complete with side crank and steering lever.

Car enthusiasts wanting to take photographs are advised to bring flashbulbs.

Skill and Chance. In addition to the many games of skill that will once again dot the Fete fairgrounds, several games of chance will be played. The major one is that signified by the new car and racing bicycles on display at Palmer Square.

For the youngsters, a drawing will be held for some kind of giant mouse, which the Fete publicists describer only as a "weighty and winsome creature who requires several persons for transport." That will be awarded at 3 by Ron Tyler of the Toy Carnival.

Beginning at 9 children may purhcase helium-filled balloons for the balloon send-off which will be at 2. Addressed post cards will be provided, which the child should complete with name and phone number. The child whose balloon travels the greatest distance, as judged by the returned post cards, will win the grand prize awarded June 30.

One new attraction for children this year will be snmething called the "Sting." The organizers bill it as a "sophisticated re-interpretation of the House of Horrors," or a "21st Century Fun House." The "Sting" will be housed in a 40 by 8-foot van in the southeast corner of the Fete field, next to the dance tent.

Visitors to the "Sting" should expect to be subjected to a maze of tactile sensations and visual and auditory experiences, dreamed up by Mr. and Mrs. Harleston Hall and implemented by Robert Rickner, McCarter Theatre technical director, and his assistant, John Rathman.

The "Sting" is recommended for nine-year-olds and up.

PICNIC AREA PLANNED

Near Princeton Country Club. The Mercer Coun.y Park Commission has announced that work has begun on a new group picnic area at the Princeton Country Club on U.S. 1.

The approximately 12-acre site, which parallels the second fairway of the golf course, will include a pavilion, picnic tables, game and play areas, and cooking facilities. Also planned is a golf driving range.

Richard J. Coffee, president of the Park Commission, explained that this new facility was needed because it was impossible for the Valley Road Picnic Area to accommodate all the groups wishing to use it. In fact, he said, an hour after the Commission began opening applications for Valley Road's 1974 season, every weekend but one was taken.

Rate Hearing Set

Public Service's request for an increase in gas and electricity rates will be up for public hearing on Wednesday, June 5, at 10 a.m. in the Public Utilities Commission offices at 101 Commerce Street, Newark.

Township Committee, making the announcement Monday night, decided to express its formal opposition to the increase to the PUC. The public is invited to attend the hearing.

Lee H. Bristol, Jr.

BRISTOL NAMED

To Aid Negro College Fund. Dr. Lee H. Bristol, Jr., former President of Westminster Choir College, has been named chairman of the United Negro College Fund's 1974 Campaign for the Princeton area.

He succeeds the Rev. Charles S. Rooks, who directed the campaign last year. In accepting the apopintment, Dr. Bristol said, "These 41 UNCF colleges perform a critical function these days out of all proportion to their size or resources."

Dr. Bristol this year has completed a five-year term as vice-chairman and executive secretary of the Episcopal Church's Music Commission. He came to that post after nearly eight years as President of Westminster Choir College and, before that, 11 years with the Bristol-Myers Company, a firm co-founded by his grandfather.

He is a fifth generation alumnus and a charter trustee of Hamilton College, which 52 of his relatives have attended. He holds two earned and 11 honorary degrees. He was the second American to be made a Fellow of Britian's Royal School of Church Music and is the first American to serve on its council.

He has been awarded the Department of the Army Outstanding Civilian Service Medal and the Bishop of New Jersey's Medal of Honor. In 1969, he was named "Man of the Year" by the Princeton Chamber of Commerce.

The UNCF is a non-profit fund-raising organization which raises money to help 41 private, predominantly black member colleges. The national goal this year is $15 million.

BUS WINDOW BROKEN

Police Charge Juvenile. Township police have charged a 16-year old Township youth with breaking a small rear window of an empty Princeton Regional School bus last week as it was traveling on Balcourt Drive.

The driver reported that he had seen two boys with an air rifle, and after he suddenly heard a large crack in the rear window, he reported the incident to Ralph Bennett, transportation supervisor for the school system. Mr. Bennett called police and when Juvenile Officer Anthony Pinelli investigated, he found the boys at the scene still shooting. Police said that the parents of apprehended youth have paid restitution of $24.67 for the window.

STOLEN BIKE SPOTTED

Stockton Youth Arrested. An 18-year old Stockton youth was charged with possession of stolen property by police Thursday after a $180 bike, allegedly stolen from the Princeton University campus, was seen inside his car.

Proctors allegedly saw the bike in a car parked on the University Store lot. Police arrested the driver, Joseph Modesky, Jr. and a juvenile from the same area who was with him. Modesky is scheduled to appear in Borough court on June 5.

CHOIR GOING ABROAD

Will Return to Italy. For the third consecutive summer, The Westminster Choir and its conductor, Dr. Joseph Flummerfelt, will go to Spoleto, Italy, as Chorus-in-Residence at the Festival of Two Worlds.

Founded 17 years ago by composer Gian Carlo Menotti, the Festival is the largest single showcase of American talent in Europe. The 23-day event will include 86 performances ranging from solo recitals and chamber concerts to full-scale opera productions and symphonic-choral works.

The choir of 45 students will act as the chorus for Luchino Visconti's production of Puccini's "Manon Lescaut," which is being produced again this year after receiving rave notices last summer from both the Italian and American press.

In addition, the choir will present a concert of sacred music in the town's beautiful 13th century Cathedral (a concert that last summer was heard by a standing room only audience), will perform Mozart's "Requiem" the closing night of the festival (last year's concluding performance of Benjamin Britten's "War Requiem" was attended by 8,000 persons), and will sing several smaller works during the scheduled six-hour Beethoven marathon.

For the first time, the festival's opening night performance will not be an opera. To commemorate the 300th anniversary of Moliere's death, "The Hypochondriac" will be performed in Italian. Among the other highlights will be film director Roman Polanski's debut as an opera director of Alban Berg's "Lulu," and the European premiere of Menotti's latest opera "Tuma-Tuma" which was first performed last September in Chicago.

Before leaving the United States, the choir will present a final concert in Princeton's McCarter Theatre on Thursday, May 30, at 8:30 p.m. The concert will include Bach's cantata no. 4, "Christ lag in Todesbanden," and selections from the 1973-74 tour program.

PARENTS WORKSHOP SET

At Stuart Day School. A workshop for parents of children in the kindergarten through sixth grades will be offered on Saturday, June 8, from 10 to 1 at Stuart Country Day School. Ms. Ellen Kuris, former open classroom teacher in the Princeton Regional Schools, will be the instructor.

The workshop will seek to give parents ideas for projects and games to play with their children during the summer. Special emphasis will be made on methods of incorporating reading and math games into everyday and vacation experiences. The fee for this one-day workshop is $6., call the school at 609-921-2330 for an application or for further information.

Catherine Sharp Will Retire at ETS- Jane Wirsig New Corporate Secretary

SECRETARIAL SHIFT: Catherine G. Sharp, left, corporate secretary of Educational Testing Service since 1958, meets with Jane D. Wirsig, who will succeed her in that position effective July 1. Mrs. Wirsig has been executive director for publications and information services. Mrs. Sharp will begin a new career in real estate in Florida, where she is moving with her husband, Ralph.

Employees of Educational Testing Service are seldom able to sample their company's products. One who has is Catherine G. Sharp, the corporate secretary who has been with ETS since its founding in 1948.

Earlier this spring she took the ETS-produced New Jersey real estate salesman's licensing examination at Mercer County Community College. The result was a real estate license for Mrs. Sharp, a new career in Florida, and a major personnel shift at ETS's headquarters nn Rosedale Road.

Mrs. Sharp is resigning as of July 1 to move to Sarasota with her husband, Ralph, a mathematics teacher at the Hun School. He will join the math department of a private school there and she will begin selling real estate.

Succeeding Mrs. Sharp will be Jane D. Wirsig, 25 Gordon Way, now executive director of the publications and information services divisions at ETS. The new corporate secretary joined ETS in 1960, after serving it as an editorial consultant for three years. Her first assignment was to launch the ETS Publications division.

Vassar Graduate. After 10 years as director of the division, she was named executive director for both publications and information services dividsions in 1970. In her new post, she will continue to be responsible for ETS' public information activities.

Mrs. Wirsig earned her B.A. degree at Vassar, where she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and awarded a Vassar College Fellowship. She received her master's degree at Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism, where she met her husband, Woodrow, who is now president of the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan New York.

Before joining ETS, Mrs. Wirsig was at various times a news writer for CBS Radio Network News, a freelance writer and editor, and a public relations consultant. She is listed in "Who's Who of American Women" and "Foremost Women in Communications."

Mrs. Sharp is resigning after 35 years of service with ETS and the College Board, one of the organizations that founded ETS in 1948. Her first association came in 1938 when she began working as a part-time assistant in the College Board office, then located at 20 Nassau Street.

Assistant to President. During the early 1940s, she was secretary to Carl C. Brigham, who developed the Board's Scholastic Aptitude Test, and John M. Stalnaker, then director of the College Board, and later to Henry Chauncey, who became director of the Board in 1946. She continued as his secretary when ETS was founded two years later and he became its first president.

In 1949, she was made Assistant Secretary of ETS and in 1958 she was appointed Secretary of the Corporation and Assistant to the President as well.

During recent years she has also played a major role in the design and completion of the ETS Henry Chauncey Conference Center, which was formally dedicated this month.

ETS HONORS STAFF

For Long Service. Thirteen staff members who have been with Educational Testing Service for 20, 25, and 30 years were honored at the organization's Annual Service Recognition Dinner earlier this month. William W. Turnbull, president of ETS, presented anniversary gifts to the staff members during the dinner, which was held at the Henry Chauncey Conference Center on the ETS campus off Rosedale Road.

Singled out for special recognition for 30 years' service was Shirley B. Johnson of Princeton. Miss Johnson first joined the College Board in 1943, one of the three organizations that founded ETS in 1948. Honored for 25 years' service were Margaret C. Kahny, Frances Swineford and John H. Rhubart, Sr. of Princeton, and Julia F. Tessein of Princeton Junction.

Twenty year anniversaries were celebrated by Dannie F. Kennedy, Barbara Pitcher, James C. Conover, Wesley W. Walton and John A. Winterbottom of Princeton; Betsy Barlow of Pennington; John S. Hollister of Newtown, Pa.; and Margaret A. Thorne of Trenton.

Fifty-seven ETS staff members who have been with Educational Testing Service for periods of 10 and 15 years were honored at a luncheon held in April.

DARK PORTRAIT PAINTED

Of Police by Judge. A high point in the third annual Police-Community Relations Seminar conducted by Borough Police this week was the appearance Monday of Judge Bruce Wright of the Criminal Court, New York City.

Judge Wright, a graduate of Princeton High School, is a black judge who has gained obtoriety—and criticism—for his low bail policy for defendants accused of serious crimes. It has earned him the nickname, "Cut-Em-Loose-Bruce."

Judge Wright took off his coat and told the approximately 50 members of the Borough, Township and surrounding police departments, "Gentlemen, I have 45 minutes to harrangue you." Reading rapidly from a prepared speech, he proceeded to paint a critical and unflattering picture of the police in this country, including in his wide brush his own judicial colleagues and lawyers in the entire New York criminal justice system.

He illustrated his topics, "Racism in the Courts," with many examples. A black or Puerto Rican boy joyriding in a car will be charged with grand larceny, he said; a white youth with unauthorized use of a vehicle—a misdemeanor.

One of the most acute acts of racism in America, he stated, was the recent stop and search and questioning of blacks in San Francisco as police hunted for suspects in the so-called Zebra murders there.

Judge Wright portrayed police in this country as brutal, immoral, arrogant—a special class which likes to have absolute power and resists anything that tries to limit them.

Police have spies and keep their adversaries under surveillance; FBI records have long been available to them, Judge Wright said. Police flout the Constitutional restraints of search and seizure. "They know if they are not allowed to use it, they can always sell their evidence later to someone else."

His attack was unrelenting and greeted mostly with silence by the officers. He elicited laughs from the audience, however, with his definition of Black Power. "Black Power," he said, "is that power we'll have in America if all white people die immediately."

Chief Michael Carnevale had said earlier that one of the objectives in the program of community relations was not to obtain speakers that would not give only the good side of the police in his role in the community. He observed later that he thought Judge Wright's remarks had been effective and stimulating. "I don't know if they liked what they heard, but I think it was good for them to hear it," he said.

GROUND BREAKING SET

For Choir College. Westminster Choir College will break ground for a $1.4 million Student Center-Dining Commons on Thursday, May 30. The ceremony, which has been planned to coincide with Alumni Week and a meeting of the Westminster Board of Trustees, will take place at approximately noon.

Participating in the groundbreaking ceremony will be Martha Cook, president of the Student Association, who will turn the first shovel full of earth; Dr. Ray Robinson, president of the college; Dr. Lee H. Bristol, Jr., past president of the college; Frederick M. Thayer, chairman of the Board of Trustees; John C. Birchfield, vice president for business affairs; and James C. McKeever, director of development and alumni affairs.

The Student Center is the first step in the implementation of Westminster's 10-year campus development plan. According to Dr. Robinson, "the Student Center will serve as a central focus point for the campus community, and will provide a much-needed facility in which students, faculty, and administrators can communicate in a relaxed non-academic atmosphere."

Princeton architect J. Robert Hillier designed the building, which will be constructed between West Hall and Bristol Chapel facing in toward the Quadrangle.

The new building will be of contemporary design, although the architects have tried to retain the feeling of the other Quadrangle buildings. A white mortise and a fan-shaped brick design in these buildings will be incorporated into the Center, and the new structure will be faced with red brick approximating the color of the older building.

The most striking feature of the Center is the second floor dining room with a large semi-circular window overlooking the Quadrangle.

Rathskeller and Recreation. In addition to the traditional cafeteria menu, short order fast food grill products such as hamburgers, hot dogs, and eggs to order will be available. Also included in the design are several special dining areas which will provide needed meeting and private dining space.

A softly lit Rathskeller, with fireplace, where students can gather for relaxation, will be housed in the lower level of the Center. A nearby recreation area, with adjacent vending machines for late evening snacks will provide space for ping pong and pool.

The building will also include student government offices; the office of the Director of Student Services; a workroom for the yearbook and student newspaper staffs; a campus bookstore; photographic darkroom; equipment checkout desk; student mail boxes; quiet reading areas; and a main lounge.

"The need for the kind of service provided in the new Student Center," commented Dr. Robinson, "is considered by students and administrators alike as critical. The building will contribute significantly to the education and growth of the students."

MORGAN NAMED

To Work for Kean. Borough Councilman Arthur P. Morgan has been named Princeton coordinator for Thomas Kean's campaign for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Fifth Congressional District.

Mr. Morgan served for ten years as a Republican County Committeeman. He was chairman of the old Borough Planning Board and has served also on the Zoning Board.

Red Cross Chapter Will Celebrate 60th Birthday—Founded by Hibbens

The Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross will celebrate its 60th birthday at its annual meeting on Wednesday, May 29. The oldest Red Cross chapter in New Jersey, it was founded in 1914 by President John G. Hibben and Mrs. Hibben of Princeton University, together with several of their friends. They sought to involve the Princeton community in helping to mitigate the suffering being caused in Europe by World War I.

The program for the annual dinner will focus on the achievement and growth of the Princeton Chapter which now serves the same area as the Princeton Area United Community Fund and includes, in addition to Princeton Borough and Township, East and West Windsor, Hightstown, Cranbury, Plainsboro, Kingston, Rocky Hill, Montgomery and portions of Lawrence Township. Plans include, in addition to the election of officers and board members for the coming year, a light-hearted look backward through slides and commentary on the past.

Chapter Chairman Kenneth Wells says, "We think 60 years of service is worth celebrating – so we are going to have a birthday party." The resources for the Red Cross come from the fall campaign conducted jointly with the United Fund. Leslie Vivian, president of the United Fund, will speak at the meeting, which will be held at the Nassau Club at 7:30, with Cocktails from 6:30.

All members and friends of the Red Cross are cordially invited. Reservations may be made by calling the chapter office at 924-2404.

REVENUES HIGHER

At Mathematica. Mathematica, Inc. has reported operating revenues for the nine-month period ending March 31 of $8,274,800 compared to $7,472,500 in the first nine months of 1973. Earnings remained even at 54 cents per share.

Operating net income for the current period was $328,500 or 47 cents per share, and net income, after giving effect to an extraordinary gain of $49,200, was equal to $377,700 or 54 cents per share. In the corresponding period a year ago, net income was $384,500 or 54 cents per share. The extraordinary gain in the current period resulted from the sale of Mathematica's minority interest in Prognos, a Swiss management consulting firm.

Dr. Tibor Fabian, president of Mathematica, said "The company operated on an approximately break-even basis in the third quarter. This was due mainly to losses in our Educational Coordinates subsidiary, and to a lesser degree, to other minor problems of a transitory nature including the startup costs of two new areas of activity."

Based in Princeton Junction on Station Road, Mathematica is a consulting and research firm working in the areas of operations research, system analysis, economic analysis, opinion research, and survey development. Its services are utilized by federal, state, and local government agencies, as well as by private industry, trade associations, and educational and non-profit organizations.

HIGHER LOSS LISTED

At Applied Logic. For the first six months of fiscal 1974, ended March 31, Applied Logic Corporation reported revenues of $1,281,258 and sustained a loss of $328,161 or 16 cents per share. This compared with revenues of $1,671,763 and earnings of $100,951 or 5 cents per share in the like period a year ago.

The decline in the Company's revenues for the first half of fiscal 1974, compared to the similar period of the preceding year, is primarily attributable to the decline in revenues from Government contracts for time-sharing and programming services. Decline in the latter, the company added, stems from the expiration of prior Government contracts and delays in the completion of current contracts. The company said it was unable to offset this loss of revenue with new business because of serious problems caused by departure of several of its key personnel and resulting organizational realignments.

Applied Logic Corporation operates nationwide time-sharing network and provides software services at 900 State Road. The company's securities are traded over the counter.

GROUP INCORPORATES

To Fight Sexism. Women on Words & Images, the Princeton-based organization that produced "Dick and Jane As Victims," the book on sex-role stereotyping in children's readers, has incorporated. Officers elected at the company's first meeting include Ann Stephan, chairman of the board; Carol Jacobs, president; Rogie Bender, vice president; Phyllis Alroy, secretary-treasurer; and Joan Bartl, Pryde Brown and Cynthia Eaton, voting board members.

"Dick and Jane As Victims," which found that boy-centered stories in grade school readers outnumbered girl-centered stories by a ratio of 5 to 2, has sold almost 30,000 copies. Women on Words & Images reports that it has effected changes in many of the major publishing houses of children's books.

The new corporation has available for sale or rent a slide show with narrative tape based on the material in its book. It will also provide speakers upon request. To help finance its current study of sex stereotyping in television, Women on Words & Images is selling t-shirts with the organization's corporate symbol.

REALTOR NAMES TWO

As Sales Associates. Weidel Real Estate Inc. has announced the appointment of two area residents as sales associates. Wendy Hall of 290 Stockton Street and Michele Hochman of East Windsor Township will be based in the firm's Princeton office, 242½ Nassau Street.

Mrs. Hall, a graduate of Mount Holyoke College and the University of Saint Andrews in Scotland, was a founding member of the Women's Professional Roster, which assists women in finding professional employment in the Princeton area. She is on the staging committee of the Princeton Hospital Fete.

A graduate of Rutgers University, Mrs. Hochman is a volunteer worker at Princeton House, the psychiatric wing of the Princeton Medical Center. She is a member of the Parents Teachers Organization of the Princeton Day School.

DIVIDEND DECLARED

At Mathematica. The Board of Directors of Mathematica, Inc. has declared a regular semi-annual cash dividend of 10 cents per share on the common stock. The dividend is payable on June 25 to shareholders of record at the close of business on May 31.

AWARDS WON

By Pyne Press. Two awards for excellence have been won by The Pyne Press, a book publisher in the fields of art, architecture, and antiques whose offices are at 280 Witherspoon Street.

The first is a certificate of award in recognition of a book meeting the industry's high standards of design, printing and binding among those exhibited in the 29th annual Philadelphia Book Show. It was given for "A Peaceable Season," edited by Eleanore P. Mather and devoted to the paintings of Edward Hicks, American primitive painter. Pyne Press editor for the book was Mary Capouya, Princeton, and the design was executed by John Berseth, Hopewell.

The second award is a bronze medal from Neographics '74, also in Philadelphia, for outstanding quality and craftsmanship in the art of graphic reproduction for hardbound books in three or more colors. It was given for The Beer Book by Will Anderson. Pyne Press editor for the book was Lawrence Grow, Pittstown. Jacket design was executed by Frank Mahood, Princeton, and text design by Gwendolyn O. England, Gardenville, Pa.

PLAQUE AWARDED

To Nassau Savings. Nassau Savings & Loan Association of Princeton was honored for 50 years' service at the 65th annual convention of the New Jersey Savings League in Atlantic City. Nassau Savings received a special bronze plaque from Warren Hill, President of the League. Carl Applegate, Vice-President of Nassau Savings, accepted the award on behalf of the Association.

The tribute to Nassau Savings and Loan was based on the fact that it has kept its funds in the Princeton area, helping many families to establish themselves as homeowners for half a century. The savings and loan industry has been the main source of home-financing for a majority of Americans.

Nassau Savings and Loan has two offices in the Princeton area, 194 Nassau Street, and 44 Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction.

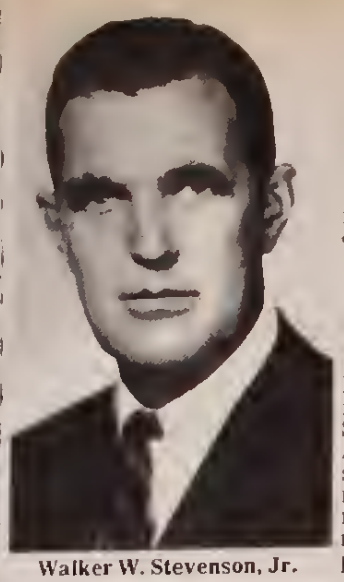
Tax Picture Here in Doubt

How does Princeton come out in the finance package unwrapped Monday by Governor Brendan Byrne?

Although details are still not firm, it looks as though the Princeton Regional School District could lose $841,032 in state aid from the present figure of $899,611, leaving the district with only $58,579 a year.

In another proposal, however, the two Princetons together would gain $804,000 if state income-tax money is used to pay for welfare, county courts and housing and if the state makes payments in lieu of taxes for state property, like "Morven" in a municipality.

Under that part of the plan, the Borough would receive $322,000 and the Township, $482,000.



Walker W. Stevenson, Jr.

MANAGER NAMED

For Hornblower Office. Walker W. Stevenson Jr., 129 Hodge Road, has been appointed Resident Manager of the Trenton-Princeton area office of Hornblower & Weeks-Hemphill, Noyes, Inc., a nationwide investment banking and securities brokerage firm.

A senior vice-president and director of the corporation, Mr. Stevenson joined the firm as a sales trainee after graduating from Princeton University in 1935. He has most recently been National Director of Branch Office Administration, based at the firm's New York City headquarters.

Mr. Stevenson has been a Princeton area resident since 1946, following three years of service in the Pacific as an officer with the U.S. Navy, and has served on the Board of Trustees of the University. Currently he is a trustee and chairman of the finance committee of the Lawrenceville School. He is a member of the Bond Club of N.Y., Pretty Brook Tennis Club, Springdale Golf Club, the Down Town Association and the Princeton Club of New York.

Hornblower was established in Boston in 1888, and now maintains offices in 85 cities, coast-to-coast and overseas.

EARNINGS ARE LOWER

For Bank Holding Company. Speaking in Morristown at the annual meeting of Horizon Bancorp, of which Princeton Bank and Trust Co. is a member, William J. Shepherd, President and Chief Administrative Officer, told shareholders that "despite a moderate slump in 1973, major steps are being taken to right the company's decline in profit margin."

Mr. Shepherd said the 22.4 percent decline in 1973 earnings was due primarily to a reduction in the spread between the rates earned on assets and the interest paid on supporting liabilities. The narrower spread was caused by a number of factors, including: decrease of demand deposits causing the use of purchased funds which reached historic highs; the raising of regular savings rates to legal immits, which had a substantial negative impact on earnings as the increase failed to stimulate growth in savings accounts; for most of the year, suppression of the prime rate at lower than money market levels, resulting in a negative spread; and, the bank's loans, a substantial portion of which are long-term and relatively insensitive to money market interest rate changes, preventing growth in this area.

To correct the 1973 slump,

Modern Windmill May Help Break Energy Crisis

An aerospace scientist, who is also an avid sailor, is the designer of Princeton University's Sailwing (semi-rigid airfoil) windmill just licensed by the Grumman Aerospace Corporation, a subsidiary of the Grumman Corp.

Grumman plans to use the Sailwing in the development of an advanced wind generator system as a means of alleviating the nation's dependence upon fossil fuels for energy.

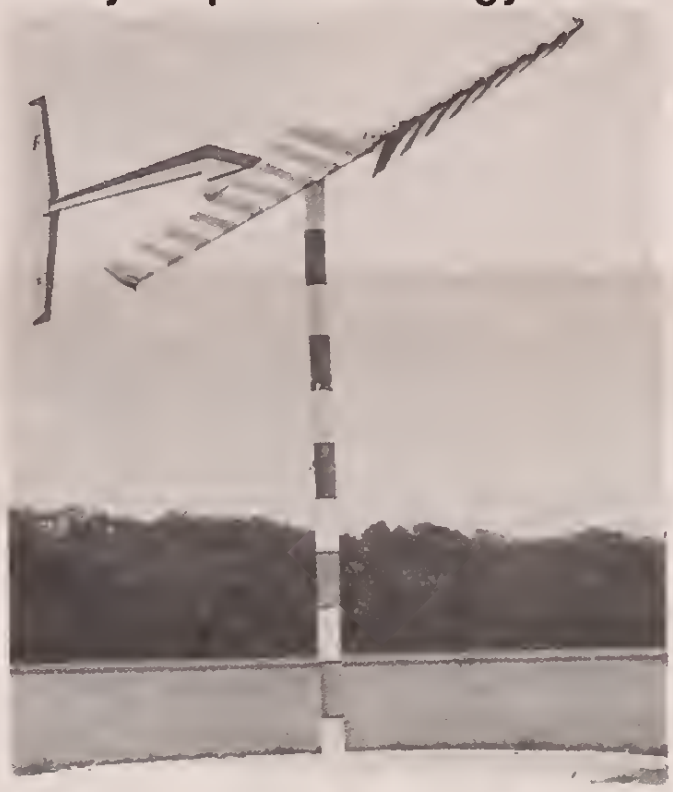
The advantages of Sailwing, designed by Thomas E. Sweeney, Senior Research Aeronautical Engineer in Princeton's Aerospace and Mechanical Sciences Department, lie in its light weight, durability, efficiency and economy.

Mr. Sweeney started this work on a low priority basis some 8 years ago when he and a group of Princeton students began to work on an experimental windmill, a smaller prototype of the present Sailwing. It was not surprising that Sweeney, whose 27-foot sailboat is also called the "Sailwing," thought in terms of windpower.

Updating Windmills. In the past windmills were built by windmill builders, highly skilled artisans who applied their best knowledge to their craft. "In 1966, when we started to build an experimental windmill," says Sweeney, "we thought of applying the modern state of aerodynamic technology to the art. We had just been through a series of very successful experiments with a high performance sailwing on a light airplane—so, in a sense, we had already done our homework."

"Excessive loading," Mr. Sweeney explains, "has always been a windmill problem because of the very high drag forces at high wind speeds. Yet, we want many rotations of the blades per minute so we like high wind speeds. Windpower also increases exponentially with velocity."

"The energy in a 20-mile-per-hour wind is 8 times that in a 10 mile-per-hour wind. Windmills always had a tendency to fall down or become damaged in high winds, so we expected that an adaptation of airplane structural technology would minimize this problem. It was clear at the outset that the Sailwing would also minimize the cost, and economy was another of our goals."



NEW ENERGY SOURCE: The Sailwing, Princeton University's semi-rigid airfoil windmill, designed by Thomas E. Sweeney, senior research aeronautical engineer in the Aerospace and mechanical sciences department. The Sailwing has been licensed by the Grumman Aerospace Corporation for use in the development of an advanced wind generator system.

The Princeton windmill, including its orange and white candy-striped aluminum mast and its candy-striped 25-foot diameter sailwing motor weighs only 300 pounds. Its light weight, the simplicity of its construction and its sailwing make it unique.

Wind Velocity. Where the wind blows and how fast will be the key to effective utilization of the Sailwing windmill. Mr. Sweeney mentions the Caribbean islands where the trade winds move at a constant 15 miles-per-hour or more, night and day. "It's the one place where you might never need a storage battery--if indeed the battery turns out to be the optimum way to store the energy."

John Mockovciak, Jr., leader of the Grumman Aerospace Energy Systems Group, estimates that there are many places on Long Island in New York where the average annual wind velocity is 12 miles-per-hour. "In these areas," says Mockovciak, "a 5-kilowatt system would produce approximately 12,500-kilowatt hours yearly, which is about 15 percent more than the average Long Island residence requires."

Mr. Sweeney explains that the highest average winds in this country occur right around New York, but that some places might have 60 mile-per-hour peak winds for 5-minute periods, no wind some of the time, and 20 mile-per-hour winds at other times. "In such places," he says, "you would have to determine the most efficient way to carry over the energy from the windy times to the calm times."

"What's important," he adds, "is that we tested our first prototype Sailwing in gale force winds, freezing rain and heavy snow storms for a whole year and it withstood them all undamaged."

Hungarian Reformed Church, Trenton. Interment was in Colonial Memorial Park. Contributions may be made to the American Heart Fund.

Warren W. Oley, 85, of 7 Park Avenue, Pennington, died May 16 in the Mercer Medical Center. He retired in 1959, after 32 years with the State Department of Agriculture, 31 of them as marketing director.

After graduation from Rutgers University in 1911, he went to Mexico as assistant manager of a rubber plantation. He returned to this country in 1912 to manage a poultry and dairy farm at Sparta.

Prior to joining the Agriculture Department's staff, he worked for Seabrook Farms, first as superintendent of orchards and then as general manager. He also served four years as Cumberland County agricultural agent and two terms as a member of Pennington Borough Council. He was a member and former treasurer and vestryman of St. Matthews Episcopal Church.

He is survived by his wife, Grace Clarke Oley; a son, Wheeler W. Oley of Ewing Township; a brother, Robert C. Oley of Upper Montclair; a sister, Mrs. Ross Flanagan of Bethel, Vermont; and two grandsons.

The funeral was in St. Matthews Episcopal Church. Interment was in Ewing Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the memorial fund of St. Matthews.

Business in Princeton

Mr. Shepherd stated that the bank holding company has: lowered the savings rate of American National Bank & Trust of New Jersey; developed a program to sell direct commercial paper of Horizon Bancorp to reduce high cost borrowing and reduce reliance on non-banking subsidiaries; plans for a short-term money desk at the holding company level to coordinate and make more efficient the activities of Horizon Bancorp; centralized the holding company's auditing program and portfolio management program; developed a joint computer package for Princeton Bank and Trust and American National, thus saving fees now being paid to outside processors.

While admitting that 1973 was a bad year overall, Mr. Shepherd pointed out that one favorable area is the trust departments of the two banks which reached new highs in number of accounts, assets and profits (gross income up 17.4 percent in 1973 to a record $3.7 million) with assets now totaling $1.1 billion, up from $900 million in 1972.

Directors from Princeton who were re-elected include George W. Conover, Frederick P. Lawrence, S. Barksdale Penick, Jr. and C. Barnwell Straut.

Mr. Sweeney ventures a guess that Princeton's experimental 25-foot Sailwing, plus storage and generating system could be produced to sell for between $3,500 and $4,000--which makes it an exceedingly reasonable clean energy source where the wind is dependable. And...since generating capacity increases with the cube of the wind velocity and with the square of the diameter of the blade, it's conceivable that bigger, more expensive Sailwing windmills could produce enough energy to supply all of the power for some small windy community.

Mr. Sweeney, who remembers seeing windmills dotting the Western plains when he was a small boy, is still impressed by their economy. While he doesn't believe that they are the one ultimate solution to the energy problem, like all good sailors, he likes to think of the wind as a friend in need.

News Of The CHURCHES

NEW LEADERS SOUGHT

For Union Group. At least two dozen persons have applied to fill the post of general secretary of the Consultation on Church Union, the Princeton-based organization working to unite nine Protestant denominations in a single church.

The Rev. Dr. Paul A. Crow Jr., chief staff executive of the Consultation since it opened its national headquarters at 228 Alexander Street in 1968, resigned his position earlier this year. He is moving to Indianapolis to become president of the Council on Christian Unity of his own denomination, the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ.)

The Consultation on Church Union is seeking also a person to fill the position of associate general secretary, which has been vacant for some time. The Rev. Dr. Robert W. Huston, chief ecumenical officer of the United Methodist Church and chairman of the Consultation's search committee, said that interviewing for the positions may begin early in June.

Hopes for church union were raised considerably last year when the United Presbyterian Church, one of the original members of the Consultation and one of the largest participating denominations, reentered the organization after several years' absence.

Dr. Crow, who will continue as a member of the Consultation on Church Union's executive committee, said he remained optimistic about the efforts toward union. "The Consultation is now writing a new chapter in its life, a chapter which will move it beyond being the possession of a few toward becoming the commitment of many."

CHOIR SEASON ENDS

Summer Auditions Set. Choir boys from the Choir of Men and Boys of Trinity Church in Princeton have just completed three performances of Bach's St. Matthew Passion with the Bethlehem Bach Choir and Orchestra during the 1974 Bethlehem Bach Festival.

Conducted by Dr. Alfred Mann of Rutgers University, the conductor and director of the Bethlehem Bach Festival, the choir boys sang the chorale ripieno in the first movement of the passion setting, as well as several chorales and the final chorus of Part One of the St. Matthew Passion.

The full Choir of Men and Boys ends its current season with the annual dinner for choir members and parents on Thursday and the season's final service to be sung by the choir will be the 11 o'clock service at Trinity Church on Sunday. The choir will sing works by Purcell and Batten during the service.

Auditions for new choir boys to be included in next season's choir will be held during the summer months. Appointments for auditions can be arranged through the choir office at Trinity Church. Boys age eight through ten are eligible for membership in the choir.

BULLETIN NOTES

A noon luncheon will be held this Sunday at the Calvary Baptist Church, Hopewell, in honor of two student assistants who have worked in the church this year. Jerry Hazen, the student minister, is graduating from the Princeton Theological Seminary and next year will preach at a Presbyterian church in Deerfield, Illinois.

Melvin Goodwyn, who has worked as organist and choir director at Calvary, will be a practice teacher next year, his senior year at the Westminster Choir College. Mr. Hazen will preach at the 11 o'clock service.

The Rev. Carl Bierman, minister of the Trenton Unitarian Church for the past 12 years, will give the sermon this Sunday at 10 at the Princeton Unitarian Church. He will speak on "One Man's Theism," and will lead a discussion period afterward.

At 8:30 Sunday, the Unitarians will give a theater party for the Princeton Hospital Chaplain's Fund. "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running" will be presented by the Community Players in the Little Theater on Route 206 and Cherry Hill Road. Tickets at $2.50 may be reserved by calling 924-1604 until 3 and 443-5468 evenings.

The drop-in center for senior citizens, located in the Princeton United Methodist Church, has closed for the summer months. It will reopen in the fall. Sue Vogt, the Theological Seminary student who has operated the center, says that she is planning to expand the offerings next year and develop new programs for senior citizens.

SPORTS in Princeton

STICKMEN WIN PAIR

Finale Thursday for PHS. Led by senior attackman Ted Baruch who has scored nine goals in the last two games, the Princeton High School lacrosse team defeated Princeton Day School, 8-1, on Monday and Livingston last week, 13-4.

PHS was scheduled to end its season here Wednesday against Newton.

Princeton's win over PDS gave them the community championship (it had defeated Hun earlier) and a 7-5 record. But coach Bill Cirullo was an unhappy man as he paced the sideline.

"Look, I'm happy to win -- it gives us a winning season -- but we didn't play well," said Cirullo after the game. "We were tired and winded and we've never been tired before. Obviously, our stickwork was bad."

Goals by Mace Mohrman, Mark Solomon, Rich Warfield and Alex Wert gave PHS a 5-0 lead after three periods against the smaller Panther squad. But Cirullo was not assoaged.

"I've never seen such an exhibition. You're not hustling, you're tired. What a fiasco!" cried Cirullo from the sideline. Then PHS goalie Keith Rendall lost his shutout when middy Jim Daubert scored for PDS with 1:40 left in the game.

Baruch, however, came back with three quick goals, scoring two within ten seconds of each other and adding the third with 13 seconds left in the game. Rendall had 14 saves, while PDS goalie Rick Olson stopped 13 shots.

Later Cirullo softened and pointed out that the Little Tiger defense had played a good game, particularly Guy Mendelson and Alex Kinnan.

Earlier in the week, PHS scored its most goals of the season in stopping Livingston. Baruch's five goals and two assists were the highlight for PHS. His nine goals and three assists for the two games are probably the most concentrated production for any player since the sport was begun at the school and enabled him to take over the individual scoring lead with 17. Mark Campbell, who had three goals against Livingston, is second with 16.

Mace Mohrman added three goals and Ron Campbell and Warfield one each. Livingston made a game of it for the first half, trailing 5-3 but in the third period, "we really blew them out," commented Cirullo, as PHS netted six goals.

Cirullo reported that he experimented freely with three midfields with great success. "I think the guys learned what they can do with a total team effort," he said.

"I couldn't have asked for anything more," he continued, as he cited the defensive play of the Little Tigers. "Mendelson ... Solomon ... Figuerosa ... Willis ... I could go on forever."

PHS NINE LOSES, 7-2

As Five Are Suspended. Ewing pitcher Lance Smith, in search of his third victory, found the task much easier here Tuesday when he won a 7-2 decision over the Princeton High School baseball team, which had already been weakened by the suspension of five of its starters.

Smith (3-4) pitched perfect ball the first three innings, struck out 12 and limited the home team to two hits. He faltered only in the fourth when Eric John singled, Mike Hutchinson walked and Steve Kopp sent both home with a double.

PROLIFIC SCORER: Ted Baruch made nine goals and had three assists in Princeton High's last two lacrosse games to take over the individual scoring lead. His five against Livingston is tops for one game for the year.

PHS will wind up its season next week with games against Trenton High, Steinert on Tuesday and Hunterdon Central on Wednesday. The latter two are home, starting at 3:45. It was scheduled to play St. Anthony here this Wednesday afternoon.

Coach Don Blankenbush's Little Tigers are mired in a 3-11 record. The suspension of John Mooney, Bob Zinsmeister, George Reynolds, Larry Howell and Jim Wetterling for one week for breaking training rules was just another in a series of discipline problems together with illness and rainouts that have kept the team off stride all season.

Ewing, Tuesday, managed only five hits off Pete Watson, but two of them were run-scoring triples by Vernon Gregory in the fourth when the Blue Devils sent three men across and by Barry Wiggs in the seventh when Ewing added two more.

PHS players moved up from the jayvee squad for the game included Greg Robinson, Eric John, K.C. Hill and Gary Madden. Blankenbush commented later that he thought they had given Ewing, which won its 16th game against seven losses, a good battle but they had made mistakes in the field. Errors and walks hurt the Blue and White, especially in the three-run fourth inning.

Zinsmeister Top Hitter. Excluding Tuesday's game, Zinsmeister was the leading hitter on the PHS team with a .342 average.

He was followed by Seitz with .285; Watson, .281; Kopp, .277; Reynolds, .257; Mooney, .250 and Mark Dalton, .218. Mooney has two of Princeton's three victories, Reynolds the other.

Wanted!

1 foxy grandpa....

...with a couple of apples-of-his-eye grandchildren who are maybe 6 or 8 years old now.

I own 16 of the most beautiful undeveloped acres in Princeton Township.

For the next four or five years from now, the place is out of reach of the greedy builders who want to subdivide—there's no sewer line for a connection. Even at that, land values are booming ahead.

By the time those kids are grown and have delighted you with some great grand-children, this stretch might be worth close to a million dollars. Who gives me $150,000 for it today?

(Note: Figure of $150,000 flexible)

Sincerely,

Mark Lawrence '42

STEP INTO HISTORY. GENERAL GEORGE WASHINGTON CONFERRED HERE. On these random width pine floors, the Marquis de Lafayette danced the quadrille with the local belles. This 18th century manor house is loaded with Colonial charm from its thick stone and stucco walls and slate roof, right inside. A large open stair well projects from the large hallway through second and third floors. It offers 7 bedrooms, 3 baths, 4 marble fireplaces. It's on over a wooded acre and some say it even has a ghost that goes whooshing through the house for a few days every Fall. We can't guarantee the poltergeist will stay but we do guarantee you'll be pleased. We request that you make appointments at least a full day in advance.

ALL BRICK AND A WIDE YARD. A lovely early Tiffany tea strainer, a set of 10 Tiffany demitasse spoons. Rose Canton demitasse cups and saucers (most people call this Rose Medallion). Large early Gorham ladle made way back when Gorham made coin.

The Navajo rugs turned out to be authentic 1929. A good date. Natural dye and right in every way.

Among our Victorian jewelry we find a cameo, two sets of Suma buckles (gold and silver on porcelain), a ladies silver cigarette case and match safe, an 18 kt. gold locket and chain, an 18 kt. chain with amethyst pendant and an 18 kt., believe it or not, 48 inch chain with slide heavy enough for a watch. Armstrong Solarian® is a floor that keeps its promise.

It shines without wax.

Here's a floor that really does shine without waxing! Homemakers from coast to coast have discovered that Solarian keeps its high gloss—without waxing—far longer than an ordinary vinyl floor can, including their neighbor's "no-wax" floors. Spills, dirt, even black heel marks come up easily, ending the drudgery of scrubbing, waxing and stripping.

Vegetable Garden Started at Age 8 Paved Way To College Education for Princeton Resident

A college education is often thought of as a stepping stone to a career. For Roger Kehoe it's been the other way around – his career has paid for his college education. He will receive his Bachelor of Science degree from Cook College next Thursday, May 30, at Rutgers University's 208th anniversary commencement.

Roger and his sister, Kathy, are partners in a commercial greenhouse business he started when he was 17 years old and she was 12. During the past four years, while taking a full study program, the enterprising graduate has carried on a flourishing business raising 3,000 poinsettias for Christmas sales and 20,000 geraniums each spring, plus chrysanthemums and gloxinias added this year. On top of this he made the Dean's List for two years and just missed it this year by a hair.

CAREER LEADS TO COLLEGE: Roger Kehoe, Lawrenceville Road, Princeton, measures the bloom of one of the chrysanthemums included in the greenhouse he started when he was 17 years old. His flourishing business has paid for his college education, which ends next week when he receives his Bachelor of Science degree from Cook College, Rutgers University.

Busy Schedule. "It's been pretty hectic but worth it," he said. "I didn't have time for many collegiate activities because there was always something waiting to be done at home, but I got what I came for, a good education in floriculture and greenhouse management."

Roger, who was born and raised on a farm, says he's always had a garden because there was a lot of space. He said his father bought Shipetaukin (Indian for cold, clear water) Farm on the Lawrenceville Road, Princeton, so the family would have plenty of room.

"I had my own vegetable garden from the time I was about 8 years old. When I became interested in flower cuttings, my father helped me put up a small heated coldframe, and then a small greenhouse. I kept running out of space and additions were continuously being made," he recalled.

By the end of his junior year in high school, Roger knew he wanted a career in floriculture and applied for admission to the then Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science. A new and larger greenhouse was built in 1970 and he and Kathy went into partnership in the Arkey Greenhouses. The name comes from the first initials (R-K) of each of their given names.

Sister a Big Help. To some teenage boys a younger sister would be a drag, but not to Roger.

"Kathy has held the fort and done more than her share to keep things going. She has spent many, many hours helping me take cuttings and transplanting," said Roger appreciatively.

His mother, Mrs. Bardley Kehoe, has some words of praise for Roger, too. "This boy works from the time his feet hit the floor in the morning. There isn't anything he can't do – paint, flooring or electrical work. Since his father died two years ago he has also kept the books for my dancing classes, nursery school, and the day camp I have in the summer," says Mrs. Kehoe.

Roger has also found time to be a member of the Hortus Society at the college and is its president this year. After graduation he plans to enlarge the greenhouse operation to include bedding plants and perhaps house plants.

Kathy has two more years before she goes to college. But there's one thing that seems certain – Roger will see to it that the Arkay Greenhouses pays for her education, too.

who may elect to participate in one or more of the three two-week sessions. All the summer school programs are co-educational.

The YWCA summer day camp will return to Stuart this year. As a cooperative venture and as a measure for conserving energy, it will be possible for any girl, 6 to 12 years old, who is participating in Stuart's tutoring program, to enroll in the Y camp for the remainder of each day.

Two one-day workshops for teachers are also being planned; one will concentrate on values education and the other on humanities in the Middle School. These workshops will be open to all teachers in the Princeton area.

Applications and additional information about any of Stuart's summer programs may be obtained by writing Mrs. Barbara Boyles, Director - Stuart Summer Program, Stuart Country Day School, Princeton, N.J., or by calling the school 921-2330.

SUMMER TERM PLANNED

At Hun School. The Hun School of Princeton will hold its summer session from June 24 - August 2, offering courses for students entering grades seven through twelve. Course offerings are primarily in the fields of mathematics and language arts, with others in foreign languages, science, history and typing.

Classes are held on weekday mornings, and an optional sports program is scheduled each afternoon. The summer session is open to both boy and girl day students, and to boy boarders.

HOSPITAL BEGINS PLAN

To Reduce Patients' Stays. A growing number of patients at The Princeton Medical Center are finding hospital stays can be shortened by a bit of painless planning.

The key to earlier discharge: Pre-Admission Testing (PAT), a program which has reduced the average period of hospitalization by as much as a full day.

Prescribed by the patient's physician, PAT may begin a week before the patient is scheduled for admission to The Medical Center's Princeton Hospital unit. Explains Dr. Frank Barham:

"In a matter of hours, prospective patients can receive a battery of laboratory and radiologic tests ordered by his or her physician -- tests which once were performed after the patient was admitted."

Basic Tests. While precise tests are determined by the patient's physician, Dr. Barham notes that "virtually all admissions" receive such basic laboratory tests as blood counts and urinalyses.

Patients scheduled for surgery, he adds, may receive an additional battery of blood tests, along with an electrocardiogram to test heart function. Currently, Dr. Barham reports, a growing number of patients scheduled for admission participate in the PAT program.

For them, a reduction of one day in their hospital stay could be extended into days, depending on the nature of their illnesses. The program, Dr. Barham contends, is more than a matter of convenience for patients and their physicians.

"In addition to the psychological advantages," he notes, "the Pre-Admission Testing Program has proven to be an exceptionally effective cost-control device.

Costs Reduced. "By reducing the length of stay," he adds, "PAT ultimately reduces the total cost of treating illness -- costs which are reflected in higher hospital charges and increasingly expensive health insurance premiums."

Ad added advantage: the cost of Pre-Admission Testing is picked up by Blue Cross -- even if the admission is cancelled. The same policy, according to Dr. Barham, is in effect for Medicaid, Medicare and "a growing number" of patients protected by commercial insurance companies.

"Unless medical reasons dictate the contrary," he observes, "Pre-Admission Testing is available to virtually every non-emergeocy patient who enters a hospital."

Pre-Admission Testing is only one planning procedure in effect at The Medical Center. Prior to discharge, each patient's case is reviewed by a team of physicians and social service counsellors who determine the precise level of care required once the patient leaves his hospital bed.

That program, developed at The Medical Center late last year, presently is in effect in all Mercer County hospitals and has gained national attention.

When combined with PAT, pre-discharge planning provides the entire Princeton area with what Dr. Barham terms "hidden economic advantages."

"By reducing the length of hospital confinement," he explains, "we are able to treat more patients in the same number of beds, thus avoiding major expansions to existing physical facilities.

"At the same time," he notes, "modernization of existing facilities can provide us with an environment in which even more rapid recovery can occur."

"WORDS AND MUSIC"

Hit from Broadway. A one-night stand for "Words and Music," the Broadway hit musical revue, has been scheduled by McCarter for Monday, June 3.

The Princeton appearance of lyricist Sammy Cahn's revue will be part of the First American Congress of Theatre, to be held on the Princeton University campus the weekend of June 2-6. Tickets for "Words and Music" will be $5, $4, $3 and $2—considerably below the Broadway price-scale for the show.

The revue stars Sammy Cahn in his performing debut. As a lyric writer, he won four Academy Awards for "Three Coins in a Fountain," "Call Me Irresponsible," "High Hopes" and "All the Way."

Besides Mr. Cahn, the show will feature Kay Cole, Jon Peck and Shirley Lemmon, with Richard Leonard at the piano. "Words and Music" opened on Broadway April 16 and is currently playing the Golden Theatre.

COMEDY DUE AT PHS

"Arsenic and Old Lace" Next. "Arsenic and Old Lace," the comedy of two spinsters who murder out of kindness, is the final production of Drama 74 and will be presented on June 6, 7 and 8 in the Princeton High School Auditorium.

Jane Beard and Beth Adler play the two Brewster sisters, who are happy to take care of lonely dejected men with their elderberry wine. Living with them in their Victorian mansion is Teddy, their brother, played by John Wihle, who is convinced that he is Teddy Roosevelt.

An unexpected visit from their two nephews, Mortimer, a famous drama critic (played by Nick Healpern), and Jonathan, an infamous criminal (portrayed by John Peters) causes riotous mayhem in the Brewster household. The police, portrayed by Mark Giamo, Bill Irvine, David Lidz and Chris Negus; a hopeful fiancee played by Judy Applegate; the Rev. Dr. Harper played by Geoff Becker; Dr. Einstein, played by Jonathan Kuhn; plus a man from the Happy Dale Sanitorium present further complications. David Meyerhofer as an almost corpse rounds out the cast.

"Arsenic and Old Lace" will be performed at 8 each evening. Tickets for students will be $1, for adults, $1.50.

Drama 74 will present "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds", on Monday and Tuesday, June 3 and 4, in the Princeton High School Bandroom.

James Landi is directing the Paul Zindel Drama starring Georgine Freedman, Lesley Johnson, Gila Sands and Jill Berkelhammer. B. Gorden Kansas has designed the set. There will be reserved seating with the curtain time 8 p.m.

PLAYERS END SEASON

With "Water Running." "You know I can't hear you when the water's running," complains the husband to his wife as he steps out of the bathroom—and this commonplace remark sets in motion Robert Anderson's comedy with the long title, really four related one-act plays. The Princeton Community Players production will open this Friday at the Little Theatre of the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road at Route 206, curtain-time 8:30 p.m. Subsequent performances will be given this Saturday and Sunday and next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

In the first playlet—"The Shock of Recognition"—will be Allan Pierce, last seen in Community Player's "Black Comedy"; Norman Friedman, who played an ebullient Irishman in "The Loves of Cass McGuire"; and Joanne Mohrman, recently elected Players' President for next season.

Featured in the second play, "The Footsteps of Doves," are Loyal Watterworth, who made his local debut last fall in "Everything in the Garden"; Joyce Wacks, who played with the Langhorne Players in "Butterflies Are Free"; and Rita Rofe, heroine of last spring's melodrama, "Belle the Typewriter Girl."

A pair of veteran actors carry "I'll Be Home for Christmas." The wife in this marriage combat will be Rosemarie Arcieri, who had the lead last fall in the P.C.P.

production of "Everything in the Garden." Opposite her is Lorin Zissman, actor and director in the Players' ranks for the past twenty years.

The final playlet—"I'm Herbert"—has but two characters, an aging couple thinking back on past amours. The couple will be played by Ann Judson, who appeared last summer with the Princeton Theatre Company at Rider College in Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit," and Jeffrey Hall, who spends offstage hours as a television news reporter for the N.J. Public Broadcasting Authority, and who played parts in "Death of a Salesman," "The Adding Machine," "40 Carats," "Madwoman of Chaillot" and other plays in north Jersey before moving to Princeton.

FOUR PLAYS STAGED

By Hun Drama Group. The Hun School drama department will present a program of four one-act plays this Thursday and Saturday at 8 in the Hun School Auditorium. The plays will not be staged Friday night, which is the time of Hun's commencement exercises.

"The Diary of Adam and Eve," one of three separate acts from the musical, "The Apple Tree," is the first play of the evening. Seniors Nancy Berents, Jane Schwab and Eric Sutherland play leading roles.

"Sorry, Wrong Number," a murder mystery adapted from a radio program, features Mindy Friedman as a bed-ridden invalid whose only means of communication is the telephone.

Seventh and eighth graders make their acting debuts in the next play, a contemporary work called "Shoo-fly Pudding." Jim Rosenberg, Leslie Gross, Marcia Greco, Leigh Olsen and others portray students facing the bane of all school children: the school cafeteria.

The final play, "Adaptation," is a satirical commentary on contemporary life, including morality, sex, prejudice and social injustice. Jon Videback, Kim Enders, Steve Veshancey, Natalie Usiskin, Sue Kain and Mary Duffy comprise the cast. Admission to the program is free.

PRINCE

Papillon Henri Charriere's best-selling autobiographical recounting of his attempts to escape from prison in French Guiana has been meticulously detailed in this $12 million film--too detailed.

Running two and one-half hours, the film is much too long. It has its moments--the multiple escape attempts are exciting in themselves--but what Papillion ultimately proves is that even the talents of a Steve McQueeen and a Dustin Hoffman can be buried and even the most exciting adventure can become boring if it is too drawn out.

Both McQueen and Hoffman are excellent. Their relationship (Hoffman is a bookish and eccentric forger who is shipped to Guiana with McQueen, who plays Papillon) is brought into a clear emotional focus as a deep, manly caring that ultimately helps them survive.

McQueen escapes first when Hoffman is assaulted by a guard but he is brought back by bounty hunters for two years of agony in solitary confinement. He escapes again only to be recaptured and subjected to a five-year stint in solitary.

In fact, he is dragged back to the colony so many times that when he makes his final escape from "inescapable" Devil's Island, the audience may find it less than climatic.

What may stay with the viewer more than the dramatic escapes is the meticulous detail by director Franklin J. Schauffner of the inhuman conditions and brutality of prison life, the living death of solitary confinement and the relentless passage of time as bodies decay and minds wither.

Note: "The Great Gatsby" is still playing at the Prince, which has added a new theatre, so there are now two screens where there was one before.

PLAYHOUSE

The Sugerland Express. This conistently entertaining comedy-drama capitalizes on the fact that there has always been a large soft spot in the American heart for the benign outlaw.

One such case is the real-life basis of The Sugarland Exprss that involves an ex-convict and his wife who capture a Texas State Trooper as hostage and use his patrol car to lead a 300-mile goose chase which the press – forever on its toes to make good copy out of a good folk hero – quickly turns into the status of a spectator sport.

The attendant humor, tragedy and social implications have been molded into an entertaining tale of a young, larcenous couple whose attempts to get custody of their baby child escalate into a cause celebre.

Shedding all remnants of her cutesy-daffy "Laugh-In" style, Goldie Hawn is extremely believable as the tough, scared young wife. William Atherton is her less decisive husband and Michael Sacks gives a beautiful portrayal as their almost willing hostage.

Commanding the chase is Ben Johnson, who, convinced the couple won't harm the trooper if he guarantees them safe passage, restrains his troopers from any violence. But as the publicity mounts and the public begins joining the parade, matters begin getting out of hand.

There are some rousing and humorous insights into a variety of peculiarly American characteristics ... from the savings stamps that Goldie diligently hoards to redeem for baby clothes to that flag-waving crowds that turn out to shower the fugitives with gifts and get autographs in return. Always here is a sense of banality coexisting with the prospect of violence that makes "Sugarland" much more than just another chase film.

GARDEN

Sleeper and Bananas, a Woody Allen double feature. In "Sleeper," probably his most sustained film, Allen scores again as a timid New York health food store owner who enters a hospital for a minor operation and wakes up to find out he's been frozen for 200 years. His conception of the future is wacky, satiric and loaded with some fine slapstick.

In "Bananas," what Chaplin did to Hitler in "The Great Dictator," Allen has attempted to do, after a fashion to Fidel Castro. Typically, the approach is free-wheeling -- chock full of sight gags and one-liners.

Allen's style tends to divide viewers into two groups: those who can't get enough, and for the rest once is enough.

PHS IN CONCERT

Vocal Music Students. Compositions by Vivaldi, Johann Strauss and Bach will highlight the annual spring concert of the Princeton High School Vocal Music Department, to be held this Thursday at 8 p.m. in the PHS auditorium.

William Trego, director of all choirs in the school, will conduct and Nancianne Parrella, Mr. Trego's associate, will accompany.

The program will begin with the Vivaldi "Magnificat." A vocal arrangement of music from Strauss' "Die Fledermaus" will follow, both works sung by the Freshman Girls' Chorus and the Men's Choir.

The High School Women's Chorus will sing "How Excellent is Thy Name" by Howard Hanson and excerpts from Vincent Persichetti's Cantata Number Two, with Jayne Seigel as flute soloist.

"KING AND I"

At Rider. The well-loved Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, "The King and I" will be presented next Wednesday, May 29 (and Thursday, May 30 and Saturday, June 1) by the Community Arts Center of the Lawrence Intermediate School. The production will be mounted in the Rider College Fine Arts Center with a 7:30 p.m. curtain.

Clyde Tipton, professor of music at Rider, is Vocal Director for the production and Mary Nicola Ferri is director. Margaret Ferry is producer.

The King will be played by Jim Arnold, teacher in Lawrence and vice-president of the Princeton Opera Association. Marty Goeble is singing the role of Anna, the school-teacher who captures the heart of the King.

Linda Mindlin, of Westminster Choir College, will sing Tuptin and John Johnson, teacher at Community Park School, will play Lun Tha.

Approximately 100 residents, teachers and students from Lawrence and surrounding communities are participating in the production. Proceeds will be used as seed money to develop an art center for Lawrence Township. Tickets for "The King and I" are on sale at all Lawrence Township public schools and will be on sale at the door performance nights.

PEOPLE In The News

Bobby King, 89 Birch Avenue, an All-Mercer County choice on the first team basketball team this spring, has been named to the Prep All-American Basketball Yearbook for 1973-74. The announcement was made by the editors of "Coach & Athlete" magazine and King's coach, Marvin Trotman.

His selection to the Prep Honor Roll makes Bobby elegible for judging in the Prep All-American Awards -- Prep 100 Squad, Super Ten Team and Cum Laude. Criteria for nominating players included outstanding athletic ability based on career records, sportsmanship, leadership and service to team and community.

An outstanding forward on the Princeton High School basketball team for the past three years, King scored 1106 career points and was second to Ewing's Hollis Copeland in Mercer County this year with 465 points. He lead all players, however, in scoring average with 25.7 per game.

Army Specialist Four William E. Scherer, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Scherer, Willow Road, Belle Mead, is assigned to the 2nd Armored Division at Ford Hood, Texas. Spec. Scherer is a gunner with Company B, 2nd Battalion of the Division's 41st Infantry.

Four members of the Princeton University faculty have been elected to membership in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. They are Professor Milton B. Babbitt, the William Shubael Conant Professor of Music; Dr. Kurt M. Mislow, the Hugh Scott Taylor Professor of Chemistry; Dr. William G. Moulton, Professor of Linguistics; and Dr. Richard H. Ullman, Professor of International Affairs.

Mr. Babbitt, 76, Western Way, whose fields of special interest include electronic music and the theory of musical analysis, has been on Princeton's Music Department faculty since 1952, having taught here earlier in both the music and mathematics departments. He is a graduate of NYU and of Princeton (M.F.A.).

Dr. Mislow, 38 Maclean Circle, whose interests are in the field of structural organic chemistry, particularly stereochemistry or the study of chemical compounds in three dimensions, joined Princton's faculty in 1964 after 17 years of teaching and research at NYU. He is a graduate of Tulane University and the California Institute of Technology.

Dr. Moulton, 37 Heather Lane, graduated from Princeton in 1935 and earned his doctorate at Yale, joined the University's faculty in 1960.

Dr. Ullman, 11 Maclean Circle, a specialist on international relations and on the making of foreign and defense policy, came to Princeton in 1965 after five years on the faculty at Harvard. He is a graduate of Harvard and earned his doctorate at Oxford University, where he was a Rhodes Scholar.

The Academy also chose the occasion to honor Dr. Clifford Geertz, of 5 Newlin Road, Professor of Anthropology at the Institute for Advanced Study, as the first recipient of its newly-created Social Science Prize. Another Institute member, Dr. Stephen L. Adler, 9 Veblen Circle, Professor of Theoretical Physics, also was elected a Fellow.

Stanley Leinwoll, of 22 Sterling Road, Griggstown, is an engineer by profession who dabbles on the side in writing. He has written a newspaper column on gardening, a book on lasers and masers (something engineers know about), another book on "Candles and Candlecrafting," and yet another book on "Low Cholesterol Lower Calorie Desserts."

The last is a cookbook and, if one can judge from the latest news of Mr. Leinwoll's publishing ventures, he may be on the verge of developing a new sub-genre in the crowded cooking field. Charles

Scribner's Sons this month is publishing "Low Cholesterol Lower Calorie French Cooking," including 160 classic French recipes, in the publishers words, "all delicious and all especially developed to conform with standards of good eating as set forth by the American Heart Association."

The recipes are for soups, souffles, sauces, poultry, seafood, even bread, and each lists the number of calories per serving and the amounts of cholesterol, saturated fats and polyunsaturates. A scallops dish called "Coquilles St. Jacques," for example, has 270 calories per serving; 44 milligrams of cholesterol; 1 gram of ssturated fats; and 6 grams of polyunsaturates.

"Over the years we have been discovering, much to our dismay, that many of our favorite foods and activities are potentially hazardous to our health," writes Mr. Leinwoll in tahe introduction. "This book attempts to reverse the trend—the restoration of one of our more pleasurable activities—eating superb French cuisine without harm."

All the recipes have been tested by Mr. Leinwoll and his wife and two daughters in his own kitchen. Presumably they all are now eating Italian foods. The title of the book Mr. Leinwoll is now writing: "Low Cholesterol Lower Calorie Italian Cookbook."

Historian Louis L. Snyder, of 21 Dogwood Lane, a member of the City College faculty for 41 years, has been named to receive the Anisfield-Wolf Prize in Race Relations for his book, "The Dreyfus Case: A Documentary History," published by the Rutgers University Press.

In making the announcement, anthropologist Ashley Montagu, of 321 Cherry Hill Road, who serves as Chairman of the awards committee, noted that the Anisfield-Wolf prizes are given annually for a published work, whether fiction or non-fiction, which "significantly advances the cause of harmony and understanding among racial and ethnic groups. The award includes a cash prize of $1,500.

In his book, Professor Snyder has compiled a documentary history of the affair from every known source and point of view regarding the case, including Dreyfus's own diaries, as well as secret French and German documents, some of which contain marginal notations by Kaiser Wilhelm II. The book is the product of more than 30 years of research by Dr. Snyder and also includes analyses by contemporary historians regarding the larger historical implications of the affair.

A 1928 graduate of St. John's College, Annapolis, Dr. Snyder received his doctorate from the University of Frankfurt-am-Main, Germany, in 1931. During this period, he was a German-American Exchange Fellow and Alexander von Humboldt Foundation Fellow, appointed by the Government of the Weimar Republic. He joined the City College history faculty in 1933.

A prolific author, Professor Snyder's 53rd book, "Encyclopedia of the Third Reich" will be published by McGraw-Hill next year. He also serves as general editor of Van Nostrand's Anvil paperbacks in history, with 115 volumes in print.

Dr. Simon Marcson, of 36 Merion Road, Professor of Sociology at Rutgers University, will chair a conference in Toronto this summer on the theme, "Patterns of Institutionalization in Science -- Comparative and Historical." The conference is part of the Eighth World Congress of Sociology of Science. Professor Marcson will also deliver a paper at the meetings of the Research Committee on the Sociology of Organizations.

Following these meetings, the American Sociological Association will convene in Montreal, where Dr. Marcson will chair a round-table on the "Sociology of Science."

Nine Princeton area residents are among the 120 faculty members at Rutgers University who have received elevation in rank. They include:

Dr. Theodore Chase, Old Georgetown Road, associate professor of biochemistry, Cook College; Charles F. Leck, 37 Chestnut Street, associate professor of zoology, Rutgers; Dr. Alicia Ostriker, 105 Fitzrandolph, professor of English; Amelis Rorty, 7-K Hibben Apartments, professor of philosophy, Livingston College; Dr. Elaine C. Showalter, 119 Snowden Lane, associate professor of English, Douglass College; and G. Terrance Wilson, Lawrenceville Road, associate professor of psychology.

Also, Dr. Peter S. Landweber, 50 Penn-Lyle Road, Princeton Junction, professor of mathematics; Dr. Richard L. Wheeden, Mulford Lane, Belle Mead, professor of mathematics; and Dr. John B. Gormly, 55 Laurel Avenue, Kingston, associate professor of psychology.

Laura C. Widing, 11 Balcort Drive, has been admitted to Shepherd College in Shepherdstown, W. Va. A member of the Class of 1974 at Princeton High School, Miss Widing is the daughter of Joseph W. Widing Jr. She plans to major in English at Shepherd.

Peter M. Garnick, of Honeybrook Drive, has won third prize in the Phi Gamma Delta Prizes in Mathematics at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn. He is a member of the Class of 1975.

Twelve area students have been named to the Dean's List at Douglass College of Rutgers University. They are Susan M. Anderson, Bayberry Road, a junior; Benita L. IT'S NEW To Us

CHANGES MADE

At Genesis. With the work of approximately 100 craftsmen, Genesis continues to be a retail outlet for fine American crafts.

Carol Plesser and Jeri Yeager, two former ETS employees, opened the store early last fall to provide an outlet for the fine quality workmanship that is so infrequently found today.

Since its opening, Genesis has greatly changed. Some of the original craftsmen have experimented with new directions and the works of others have been added. Carol and Jeri have became especially interested in local craftsmen and by speaking before a group of the New Jersey Designer Craftsmen they were able to contact many of them.

We saw hand-blown glass by two very different craftsmen. Peter Bramhall's pieces are heavy and in dark colors, such as a large blue plate or a tall blue fluted vase, $40 and $35 respectively; while Gerald Collins' works indicate that he blows clear glass and then adds a swirl of color, such as a yellow swirl on a small egg-shaped vase, $12.

New in Candles. New to the candle selection is a tall hand-carved candle that looks like ribbon candy. Jack Cligget starts with a white star-shaped candle which he dips for color; and then while it is still warm, he spins it with one hand while he carves many curves with the other. A column burns in the center so the design part won't melt, and there is a range of colors, $8-$12.

The Gremlins is another new candle and this one is made from several brightly colored waxes that have been rolled together. They are scented, slow-burning, and have a clear parafin coating that gives them a shiny plastic look, $2 to $15.

Georgia Herman, a New Hope weaver and teacher, has given Genesis some of her works to display. Because many people prefer a framed picture to wall hangings, she frames some of her weavings, and we particularly admired one of a sea scene to which she has added a small Appalachian wooden bird, $50.

She also has wall hangings and one currently in the store has feathers, sheepskin and an eagle design, reflecting her interest in the American Indians. In addition to the weaving, she also spins and dyes a lot of her own wool.

Silk Screens. Another thought for the walls are Robert Van Allen's silk screens on fabric which have been stretched on wooden blocks and are ready for hanging. These include a white fabric with tall dark trees and a sun or a bold orange and yellow fabric with bottles and a plant, $10-$13. There are also some kitchen silk screens which show a large carrot, beet or scallion on a black background, $9.

Plants have always been a part of Genesis as Carol and Jeri place a small one in each planter. It makes the store especially attractive and if you want, you can buy the plant too.

Some of the new hanging planters we noticed were a small hand-blown glass bowl with a swirl of white by Gerald Collins, $18, and a graceful terra cotta planter in knotted jute which Evanne Aronson has recently started to make, $9-$11.

Susan Fischer continues to make her lovely and intricate nylon macrame holders which she puts around colored apothecary jars. They are perfect for water gardens or rooting cuttings because the nylon will not rot if it gets wet, $10 to $15.

Glass Terrariums. A new addition to Genesis' plant world are the six-sided leaded glass terrariums. One with plants and an attractive layering of dirt, sand and pebbles costs $30, while a low open cactus garden is $20.

Other new items are lambswool skins for hanging; leather purses, wallets and belts; small whimsical metal sculptures; people pots for weeds; and beautiful wooden bowls with a hand-rubbed oil finish by Eugene Doherty of Princeton.

84 LUMBER OPENS

In Pennington. Earlier this month Route 31, Pennington, became the site of 84 Lumber Company's 90th store. Headquartered in western Pennsylvania, the company, which is the second largest lumber chain in the country, features building materials on a cash and carry basis.

Located in a huge blue barn-type structure, the store has many nice features. For instance, samples of all the stock items are clearly displayed and priced, and the entire front of the building is a convenient loading dock.

In addition, because of central buying, a basic stock, no charge accounts or free delivery (a sub-contracted service is available), the prices are kept as low as possible.

84 Lumber has all the basic building materials you could possibly need. Of course the store begins with sheets of lumber, but we also saw nails, louvers, screen and storm windows, doors for inside and out, aluminum siding, moulding, bath cabinets and disappearing ceiling stairs.

The list goes on to include shutters (either wood or aluminum), garage doors, paint, ceiling tiles, shelving, moulding, decorative hardware, fiberglass insulation and much, much more.

The company also sponsors its own club, and by joining this you not only receive sale notices, but also can take part in 84's annual Christmas party. It is at this party that the annual Paul Bunyan games are held with competition in events such as a golf hole-in-one, log rolling and tobacco putting.

84 Lumber located on Route 31 just north of Pennington, is open Monday through Friday from 8 to 5 and on Saturdays from 8 until 5.

Government by Due Process.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The criticisms currently being levelled at the government of Princeton Borough tend to obscure the real issues and subvert the authority of the government. The Mayor, Council, Planning and Zoning boards are presently legally authorized to do the Borough's business; and no evidence has yet been presented indicating that they have in any way exceeded that authority.

The Borough operates under a weak mayor system, with the Mayor sharing power with the Council. Appointments to boards and commissions are the responsibility of the whole body; and although the recruitment process should be more open, the responsibility for recruitment rests equally with all the members of Council. Members of the community who are interested in serving on a board or commission have an excellent chance of being appointed simply by expressing their interest to an elected official. Volunteer government is increasingly time-consuming, and hard-working people are difficult to recruit.

The only appointment power reserved exclusively to the Mayor is to vacancies on the Regional Planning Board. Mayor Cawley has never exercised that power by making an appointment over the objections of a majority of the Council.

The Zoning Board of Adjustment, a quasi-judicial body, is appointed by the Council. It cannot make law but simply applies existing laws. The Zoning Board bases its decisions on facts, not on who the applicant is or o popular sentiment.

Dissatisfied applicants have redress through the courts Citizens, dissatisifed with the performance of elected officials or their appointees, have redress through regular, contested, partisan elections. Whatever deficiencies exist in Borough government should be corrected through regular political processes, and I have confidence that these processes will work for all of us if we use them.

A Look at McCarthyism.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

"McCarthyism" is the art of making wild accusations and spurious allegations of impropriety without any grounding in fact or without benefit of due process for the target. It is the art of dissembling for political purposes and the personal aggrandizement of the perpetrator.

Its end result is to confuse listeners and promote hysteria rather than to inform and educate. It is the tool of a demogague (Webster: Demagogue: a speaker who seeks to make capital of social discontent and gain political influence). Sigmund or Lombardo?

Clarence Di Donato's (letter to TOWN TOPICS, May 16) long history of opposition to social and political injustice should at least make him exquisitely sensitive to demagogic tactics. Instead he has adopted them for his own. Tom Hartmann's and Barbara Sigmund's opposition to Marty Lombardo's tactics and behavior is an occasion for Clarence to question their motives and slyly imply they have not been on the side of the Gods in the past.

If the democratic process, to which Clarence pays such articulate lip service, is to work, it takes more than pious pronouncements and the designation of enemy fists, as Richard Nixon would be the first to tell Marty and Clarence. If there is any validity to any of Marty's contentions, he has guaranteed they will not be fairly discussed.

Although Clarence drops the magic words and exhorts us to learn lessons from Watergate and Vietnam, I have no notion of what he could mean from the context of his letter. That ends do not justify means?

That scorched-earth policies bring victory to no one, destroy many innocents, and demean us all? Or does he mean that it is better to tough it out with more destruction and deception rather than look like a helpless giant?

Since, as Clarence reminds us, Marty's courageous acts of calling for an end to the war and Nixon's impeachment in Borough Hall were promptly implemented, it is possible that Marty thinks he can run the Borough as he does the nation and the world.

It's much tougher in Princeton, Marty, much tougher.

Good Point; No Style
To the Editor of Town Topics:

We were supporters of Councilman Lombardo in his election campaign last year, but we have been disappointed in the style of his recent publicity blitz attacking the planning and zoning boards.

We can only hope that the members of these boards will realize that the community continues to recognize their ability and integrity and to appreciate their service to the borough.

Nevertheless, Mr. Lombardo and Mrs. Olivier's petition group have raised some significant political issues. Should more attention be given to balancing the composition of the Borough's boards by income level, educational background, neighborhood, et cetera?

Should the Borough have more flexible zoning practices so that it is easier for property owners to use their property as they see fit? Should zoning procedures provide more opportunity for input from those directly affected than they do now?

Since the basic facts relevant to these issues are a matter of public record, and since the issues are controversial and essentially political, there is little point in the Council appointing an official "impartial" citizens committee to investigate them

However, Mrs. Olivier's groups could do the community a service if they would form a citizens committee themselves to write and disseminate a short, persuasive, well documented report presenting their point of view. Such a report would form an important focal point for discussion in next fall's Borough election campaign.

Penny Wise?
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Johnny Carson makes a facetious remark about toilet paper shortage and the country goes on a wild tissue buying spree. The treasury mulls making cents from other than copper (because of rise in copper price) and the nation now seems bent in squirreling all pennies into future dreams of riches.

has hit the lowly cent. Local banks are limiting issue of the now scarce coppers to business only. Friends tell me they keep every cent they get in change. What an age to live in!

The going price for copper at present is about $1.20 a pound. If it should reach $1.50, a profit could then be realized. All you would need to make a $100. profit, would be 240,000 cents, melted down including the cost of the melting process subtracted.

Do-it-yourself is a bit complicated as fairly sophisticated processing equipment is needed to bring copper to its 1,800-degree melting point.

If that is not enough to discourage the hoarding, then perhaps the ban on melting, with anyone convicted of melting cents facing a maximum fine of $10,000 and five years in jail or both, as specified by the 1965 Coinage Act.

Americans, awake! A savings account would net you more. Besides, who is going to pay for the floor that will cave in with the storage of all the cents needed to show a profit.

Study Center to Close.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

With a twinge of regret and much nostalgia, the Board of the Princeton Study Center has concluded that changing conditions have made continuation of the Study Center unnecessary. For over a decade, we had provided free tutorial services to students of middle school and high school in the Princeton community.

For the last three years, we have witnessed a substantial decrease in the demand for tutors. We believe that, in large measure, this is due to steps taken within the Regional School system (such as student-to-student tutoring and increased remedial reading assistance); we view these steps as both appropriate and desirable and hope that they will be strengthened even further.

On behalf of the current members of our Board, I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to previous members of the Board, our staff, and especially to our many volunteer tutors and contributors who contributed so generously of both time and money.

Toward A Common Goal.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The letter in your paper (in response to my comments about the April Annual) signed by the presidents of the Association, displayed sensitivity and an awareness of how much more can and must be done for the patients at the N.J. Neuro Psychiatric Institute. I am confident that they recognize the underlying problem of separation, of isolation, of keeping the patients apart from the "normal" world.

The April Annual is held on the grounds of the Institute within view of all the patients, and they are excluded. Were it so simple to bring patients into the tent, why were there one or two patients in the tent and not one at the luncheon? Perhaps the Director of Volunteer Services can send out a memo to all volunteers (and staff) in advance of next year's Annual informing them that supervised patients are welcome. If in the end the Annual must exclude patients, in all fairness it should be held at a different site. Tantalizing the patient with the outside world on their grounds, and yet beyond their reach, is sad.

If the ultimate goal is to get the patient back into the outside world, then a different attitude must be adopted. The patient I wrote about in my last letter has been institutionalized at the Institute for over 10 years. His parents, who live 50 minutes away, have never visited once.

After working with him for months, I contacted his parents, and they visited twice in my presence and twice on their own. They are very grateful to have been helped out of their shell of fear; and the patient has improved. The father and I stopped in to see the Medical Director and he arranged for me to take the patient off the grounds. The Director of Volunteer Services was out, but she called at a later time to reprimand me for contacting the parents. Today, I brought this patient to my home where my children cooked him lunch and conversed with him.

I received many supportive calls as well as letters in response to my letter in your paper. There were two calls from former employees at the Institute who resigned over frustration in trying to help the patients. At the Institute my letter set many gears into motion. Some feathers were ruffled, but only those that needed ruffling.

Proper Respect Missing.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Enclosed find a copy of a clip from Town Topics of Thursday, May 16 (referring to a suggestion from Greenholm residents that Princeton Cemetery is a possible site for multi-family dwellings—Ed.)

If this isn't an ill-advised joke, I suggest you contact the Princeton Cemetery Committee, First Presbyterian Church.

Unless I am mistaken, the purchasers of cemetery plots have some rights of ownership. Perhaps the nine owners of the properties in Greenholm are not aware of this. Also, if anybody is interested, there is a very strong Aaron Burr Memorial Society which holds memorial services in the cemetery every year.

I think they would take a dim view of bulldozing the cemetery to save the properties of rich people of Greenhom. Also, the descendants of Grover Cleveland, who is buried in the cemetery.

I would like to see Town Topics in an early issue print a full explanation of this suggestion that the cemetery is a potential site for multiple housing, much as it is needed.

Plans for Park Supported.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I would like to add the support of myself and my family to the recent letters you have received concerning the establishment of a park on Spruce Street, known as the Quarry. As a resident of this area for some years, I have watched many children enjoy the Quarry which is now being considered for multi-family dwelling unit.

This area has for many years been on the Princeton Master Plan as a park; may I suggest it is now time to establish one. As a park, it would continue to give our children the pleasure and safety which other children have enjoyed, and as a park it would guarantee our environment for all to enjoy.

Thank you, thank you, Princeton people for a day of laughter, song and fun.

We had an answer to the gas problem long before there was a gas problem.

Plymouth Valiant.

14 years ago, when we put our first Valiant on display, it got a lot of attention. It was part of a new breed of small cars that offered good, solid value in a compact size and featured easy handling and parking, nice low price, room for six inside, plenty of trunk space and good gas mileage on regular fuel. Since then, 2.3 million Valiants have been sold. So we figure we've been doing something right. And naturally, Valiant's good gas mileage is part of it. One good reason why America's No. 1 selling compacts come from Plymouth. Stop in at Joyland today and we'll show you plenty of other reasons. Come to Joyland for 8 great small car buys. It's a Joy!

GRAPHIC ART ON VIEW

At Kingston Gallery. Works by artists in Summit and Roosevelt are among those included in the show of graphic art which opened last Saturday at the Art Confederation Gallery in Kingston. The show will run five weeks, closing June 21.

Because the Summit Art Center was one of the first in the area to have its own presses and open its facilities to professionals as well as students, its reputation is known outside the state. It will be represented in the current show by six graphic artists: Roth Bilane, Jane Eccles, Pat Garrat, Marta Sommer, Cynthia Weiss and Helen Yaker.

Roosevelt will be represented by Peter Vince, the English printmaker who had a one-man show at the Art Confederation Gallery last season and who also has had exhibitions in London, New York and Washington. Born in Rugby and educated in Birmingham, England, Mr. Vince came to America and settled in Roosevelt in 1970.

MEET THE ARTISTS

At Loft Gallery. Artists Lesley Bloch, Constance Mason and Robert Raphael will appear at the Loft Art Gallery, 306 Alexander Street, Saturday from 2 to 4 to discuss their works now on display at the gallery. The exhibit can be viewed Tuesday through Saturday fraom 9 to 5. It closes June 18.

A Princeton resident, Mrs. Bloch studied painting at the School of Visual Arts in New York. Her works include whimsical, pen and ink and marker drawings, as well as large, abstract paintings in acrylics.

Mrs. Mason, who lives in Rocky Hill, has displayed water colors at the Princeton Art Association show at McCarter Theatre and at the juried Hunterdon Show. Adept in watercolors and temperas, she also will display several colored waxes.

Mr. Raphael, whose rich impasto oils are included in many private collections in the United States and Europe, teaches life drawing, painting and art history at Pace College. He and his family live in Princeton.

WORKSHOP UNDER WAY

For Art Association Members. Wolf Kahn, nationally-known landscape painter, comes to Princeton this week to conduct a painting workshop for the Princeton Art Association. This year, members of the PAA will paint with him outside for four days; the workshop will also include a lecture and slide show and a critique.

Mr. Kahn, whose work is discussed in Allen Gussow's book on American landscape painters entitled "A Sense of Place," has had many one-man exhibitions including 11 shows at the Grace Borgenicht Gallery in New York, the most recent in March. His work is included in numerous private and museum collections including the Whitney, Museum of Modern Art and the Brooklyn Museum. An exhibition of his work entitled "Recent Acquisitions" is now showing at the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art.

Mr. Kahn was scheduled to give a lecture and slide show this Wednesday evening at the PAA Studio, 3 Spring Street. The lecture is open to the public; a small fee will be charged to non-participants in the workshop.

JURIED SHOW TO OPEN

At State Museum. Art from New Jersey, the State Museum's ninth annual juried exhibition of contemporary work by artists throughout the State, will open with a public reception in the Main Museum Galleries from 8 to 10 p.m. on Saturday, June 1. The exhibition will continue through Labor Day.

As a preliminary to the exhibition, all New Jersey artists at least 18 years old were invited this spring to submit one recent work for consideration. Six hundred and eighty-seven representing all areas of the state responded, and their entries were reviewed by a panel that consisted of New York artist Jane Wilson and Pennsylvania art curators Anne d'Harnoncourt and Ruth Lehrer. This panel selected a total of 68 paintings, graphics, sculptures and constructions to appear in the exhibition.

Nine of the 68 artists were also represented in the 1973 edition of the Art from New Jersey series. They include Lonni Sue Johnson, Princeton; Caroline J. Rister, Hopewell; and Howard Siskowitz, Princeton.

Indian Miniature Paintings

Once India's emperors and maharajas or well-to-do merchants commissioned their artists for graphic records of important events, portraits of their families and legends to display in their private albums. As was tradition from the 14th to the 20th Century, these painstakingly detailed Indian miniatures painted with ground vegetable and mineral dyes and gold were exchanged as gifts and often sent, in the days before photography, to the family of a proposed bride or bridegroom. The gallery has assembled for your viewing a large group of these one-of-a-kind miniatures, most from the 18th to 20th Century.

SPORTS FANS!
I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you By John Bernard

Here's a tough question...Of all the men who have ever been in auto racing, which one do you think won the most races in history?...Answer is Ralph DePalma who won the Indianapolis 500 in 1915 and won over 2,000 other races in his career ... And, oddly enough, DePalma started as a bicycle racer...He didn't switch to auto racing till later in his career, yet wound up as the winningest driver of all-time.

Did you know that a big league baseball player once made a home run by running BACKWARDS?...The date was June 23, 1963 when Jim Piersall of the Red Sox socked one over the fence for a homer, and then, just to do something funny, Piersall ran to first, second, third and home backwards...There was no rule against it at the time, but soon after a rule was written that players must run forward...But Jimmy Piersall goes down in the record books as the first and last man to get a big league homer running backwards.

Here's an amazing fact that's hard to believe...Second baseman Bobby Grich of the Orioles made an error on only one ground ball all last season even though he played in all 162 games!

I bet you didn't know that our major medical policy with a $100,000 limit fits into medicare to help reduce expense not paid by medicare.

Inability to Beat Harvard Once in Three Games Costs Princeton Eastern League Baseball Title

"It is extremely unusual for a bunch of sophomores to take charge of a tight race," the late Charlie Caldwell once said in evaluating his prospects for the coming season. In an era when little that once held true is still axiomatic, Caldwell's observation remains solid as rock.

Princeton's baseball team, starting six members of the Class of 1976, failed Sunday for the third time in eight days to beat Harvard at Cambridge, and thereby lost the 1974 Eastern League title to the Crimson. As a result of the defeat in the playoff, the Tigers slid from a first-place tie to third behind Penn in the final standings. The Quakers had a shot at taking all the marbles, until they lost both ends of a doubleheader last week to Harvard.

Still feeling the pressure that had seen them lose a doubleheader to Harvard the previous weekend, the young Princetonians were guilty of all sorts of diamond misdemeanors. By the time they had absorbed the 5-3 defeat, the Tigers had:

- Stranded five men in the first three innings, managing to escape from several highly-promising scoring opportunities without the benefit of a run.
- Given up the home team's first three runs after pitcher Mark Softy had hit the leadoff batter in the fifth, walked the second and then yielded a single and a double with two away.
- Put the game out of eventual reach by yielding two unearned runs in the sixth.
- Lost a last-ditch chance for glorious salvation when they could score only once in the top of the ninth after loading the bases with none away.

Echoes from Flatbush. Now, it's "wait 'til next year," and if it isn't next year, it will not be again for Eddie Donovan, the veteran coach who will make 1975 his last at Princeton. For years he has been making bricks without much straw, and hopes are that these same sophomores will mature sufficiently by next spring to send him out with a championship in his final season.

Last Shot Next Year

Missing from the current squad will be four players who started with considerable regularity. The major attrition will be loss of the keystone combination, shortstop Steve Brown and second baseman John Cullinane. There is, however, a ready replacement for Cullinane in Kevin Kaufman, the hard-hitting sophomore who saw action at second when not the designated hitter, and there are reportedly potentially able freshmen on the way for both positions.

SPORTS in Princeton

Captain Ken Beytin will depart after three years of serving as the regular first baseman, and Tony Riposta will leave a gap in left field, to which he returned as a regular after an off-year last spring. Other seniors on the squad are Steve Loy, a fine defensive third baseman who was benched toward the end of the season by the hard-hitting Ed Kuchar, and Steve Crandall, a pitcher who started some of the non-league games.

The three hurlers who won 16 of the team's 19 victories (against 11 defeats and a tie) will all be back, two of them with two more years to go. In addition to Softy (6-3), there is sophomore Mike French (5-2), who got better and better as the season progressed, and junior Scott McHenry (5-3), who alternated with Softy in getting the toughest starting assignments. Off his league victories over Army and Dartmouth however, and his fine seven innings against Seton Hall before rain washed out the scoreless tie, French holds as much promise as any of them.

In non-league games last week, the Tigers wrote a finish to seven decades or more of baseball at New York University when they played host to the Violets in their last game. Budget problems and loss of a field on which to play have culminated in a decision to drop the sport.

It was a 13-7 final, the Tigers breaking matters open with a seven-run seventh that saw the losers go through two pitchers and then bring their center fielder to the mound. The second and last official pitcher for NYU was Ray Richards, a Princeton High School alumnus, Class of 1972, of 26 Jefferson Road.

Friday was a frustrating afternoon for the Tigers, particularly for Mike French, who richly deserved the one run that would have given him victory before a cloudburst ended the contest in the last of the seventh. The Tiger sophomore allowed but two hits and worked his way out of a couple of minor jams with extreme dexterity.

When the rain, thunder and lighting came, the Orange and Black had the leadoff man on first with none out, but there simply wasn't time for a chance to push him around. Five days earlier, French had beaten Dartmouth, 3-1, working the first seven and a third innings, six of them in no-hit style. Over the last 14 innings he worked this spring, he was charged with four hits and one run, and that can make thoughts of another season quite enjoyable.

NCAA Play Thursday

The NCAA District II baseball tournament will begin Thursday at Mercer County Central Park Field in West Windsor Township. Staged for a number of years on Clarke Field here, it was shifted to permit twilight and night games during the double elimination series.

Thursday afternoon at 5, St. Joseph's (16-13), the Middle Atlantic Conference champion which received an automatic bid despite its mediocre record, will face St. John's (25-4). Three hours later, Seton Hall (30-8-1), the Metropolitan Conference winner, will play Penn State (17-4). The Nittany Lions, making their 16th appearance in NCAA play, are the defending champions in the district.

Thursday's losers will play Friday at 2, winners at 5 and the teams with 1-1 marks will then face each other at 8. The championship final will begin at 1 Saturday, with a second game at 4 if neither of the remaining survivors has won three times.

HUN ENDS SEASON

State Tournament to Begin. Splitting games last week between Germantown Friends and Princeton Day School, the Hun baseball team (10-3) will end its regular season Thursday with a makeup game against George School.

Wednesday, Hun was scheduled to play Blair Academy in a non-league game. Still battling to retain its championship in its division of the Penn-Jersey League, Hun will also compete in the annual Prep School state championship. Coach Bill McQuade reported that Hun's first game in the state event will probably be Friday or Saturday.

Dave Clark, Hun's numero uno on its mound staff, came through again on Friday as the Red and Black defeated Germantown Friends, 2-1. Clark limited the home team to one run and three hits to win his seventh without a loss.

Clark also drove in both Hun runs in the second inning when his single sent home Lonnie Cathel, who had walked, and Paul Soderman, who had gotten on via an error, ahead of him. Hun also collected only three hits.

Clark's single raised his batting average to .333. Add that to his 7-0 pitching record and "He's come on strong, to say the least," McQuade commented.

Earlier in the week, Hun dropped a 4-1 decision to rival Princeton Day School.

The Panthers' Frank Russo limited Hun to a pair of hits, one a double by Cathel, in getting the decision. Jon Vidabeck was the losing Hun pitcher.

PDS, which had lost to Hun two days earlier, scored three runs in the last inning on singles by Nick Brady, Chris Szuter, Brad Marcus and Frank Konstantynowicz.

TOURNAMENTS WON

At Springdale Golf Club. The 1974 champions in the annual Governors' Cup Tournament at Springdale Golf Club are Bill Millman and Lloyd Ferguson. They defeated Roland Smith and Barry Foster, 2 and 1, in an 18-hole match that was all even at the turn.

In women's golf, the Betty Whelan Tournament was won by Ruth Thornton. She was the victor in the two-day low gross event on the 37th hole over Kate Litvak.

Kay Conover was the winner in the Chairmen's Tournament, a two-day low net event. Olive Holnback was the runner up.

CARNEGIE RACE RESULTS

Gibson, LaFountain Win. In Sunday's races held by the Carnegie Sailing Club, Tad LaFountain-as usual-was the winner among seven Laser skippers. He was followed by John Henderson and Doug Boone.

In Sunfish competition, there were seven races among 11 skippers, and picking his way around the holes in the wind to a daily first was Walt Gibson. Advantages were gained by properly playing the wind-shifts and spotting areas where the puffs were building.

John Skinner was second and Hera Kwiatkowski, third. The season standings thus far have Skinner first, trailed by Gibson and Bill Connors. LaFountain, Ed Metcalf and Henderson are 1-2-3 in the Laser fleet.

FINAL MEET THURSDAY

For PHS Track Team. A winning or losing season for new coach Marc Anderson of the Princeton High School track team hangs on the outcome of the final dual meet of the season for the Little Tigers.

It will be held here Thursday at 3:30 against visiting Hightstown. Following last week's 72-59 victory over Lawrence High, PHS will enter the meet with a 5-5 record.

The NJSIAA Sectionals will start Saturday at Highland Park and Princeton's best hope of capturing a title lies with its two top scorers this year, Freddie Wilson and Mark McLean and in its distance runners, Tim Anderson, Royce Flippin, Pete Nichols and John Woodside.

The finale with the Rams will not be an easy meet in Anderson's opinion. One reason, he said, is that PHS will be without the services of McLean, second leading scorer on the team, who has to qualify for the state pole vault event that afternoon in Highland Park.

Hightstown also has a good

Tigers Unbeaten in Golf and Tennis; Netmen First in Eastern Association

By far the top performances among Princeton University spring sports teams were credited this year to tennis and golf. Both finished their regular schedules unbeaten last weekend, Coach Bill Summers' racket squad running its string of victories over two years to 23.

Its 13-0 mark this season included ten consecutive triumphs which brought the Orange and Black the championship in the Eastern Association. In the process, the Tigers ended Columbia's two-year reign as top dog.

Outcome of the race hinged on Saturday's match at Cambridge against Harvard, which Princeton won, 5-4. The Tigers took four singles matches but at one point were trailing by a set in all three doubles. Bill Dutton and Bob Fisher then rallied to turn back the Crimson pair, 6-7, 6-4, 6-4, for the decisive triumph.

The Tigers have extreme depth in the sport, the jayvees also finishing unbeaten (11-0) under Coach Norm Peck. During the course of the season, Princeton shut out Yale by the unusual score of 15 to 0.

Outdistancing their male counterparts in longevity of their unbeaten string is the women's tennis team, which not only was 6-0 this spring but has not lost in dual match competition since the sport began here four years ago. The successful coach is Ann Marie Hicks.

A victory at Colgate Saturday gave Princeton's golf team a perfect 14-and-0 record for the 1974 season. The Tigers won the Big Three and Metropolitan titles, but had a disappointing performance in the Easterns at Cornell, where they finished seventh.

The squad's personnel included a father-son relationship, Scott Quackenbush playing under the guidance of his father, Coach Bill Quackenbush. Over a four-year period since he took control of the team, Bill has won 49 matches, tied one and lost four.

distance runner in Marty Egle, who, Anderson predicted, "will give Flippin a good run for his money." Egle, he said, has run a 4:30 mile this season.

Wilson Triple Winner. Against Lawrence, Wilson picked up 16 points with firsts in the 100, 220 and 440 and a third in the long jump. PHS fired its other barrel when McLean won the pole vault with a jump of 12-0, just missing at 12-6, and capturing seconds in the high jump, high hurdles and 330-yard intermediate hurdles. "He did a beautiful job in the vault," commented Anderson.

Rex Hay won the 880 in 2:05.2 to lead a PHS sweep of the event. Steve Roderick was second (2:06.1) and Mike Clohossey third at 2:16.5.

Filling in for the injured Woodside, who has been sidelined with a back injury, Flippin won the mile in 4:30 flat, destroying the competition in posting one of the fastest times in the area for the event. Nichols won the two-mile in 9:57. PHS completely dominated the running events where it enjoyed a 55-22 margin.

But if PHS was having a field day on the track it wasn't in the field events themselves.

"We did nothing in the field events again," moaned Anderson. "We were swept in the discus and got only one point in the shot. We can't seem to do anything about it, and it just kills us."

Sophomore Fred Berkelhammer was an exception, taking a second in the long jump with a leap of 18-1, and Dave Gilbert tossed the javelin 161 feet for another second. His toss was four feet behind the winning distance.

PDS LACROSSE SLIPS

In Final Week. Princeton Day School's up and down lacrosse team took a turn for the worse last week as it lost all three of its games and saw itself eliminated from post-season play in the State B Championships. Playing without top defenseman Doug Robinson, out for the season with a knee injury, and with several players battling flu, the Panthers lost to Pingry, 8-4, Hun, 8-6 in overtime; and Rutgers Prep, 11-6.

Coach Chuck Simpson found no consolation in the fact that his team was playing shorthanded. "We are just a team that peaked too early," he said. "Three weeks ago we were playing terrific lacrosse. Lately we've been looking lethargic. We keep making one mistake after another."

The outlook actually was still bright for PDS just two weeks ago when it escaped with a 3-2 win over the George School on a goal by Jack Bonini in the last half minute of play. Then Pingry and Hun dampened the Panthers' hopes for a B-division showdown game with Rutgers Prep.

Three goals by Dich Gordon, who has emerged as the offensive threat for PDS, and one apiece by Cam Ferrante, Tim Hamid and Johnny Bragg kept PDS in the Hun game through regulation time. Jack Reeder and John Marshall had three apiece for the winners.

"It wasn't even close," said Simpson of the Rutgers Prep game. The only positive note for the PDS coach was the play of sophomore goalie Rick Ollson. "He played one of his best games," said Simpson. "By their count they took 63 shots. About 40 of them were on goal. Rick had at least 25 saves."

Ferrante had three goals, with Tom Moore, Bragg and Bonini each scoring once.

MORE OF THE SAME

For PHS Tennis Team. It's unusual when the Princeton High School tennis team loses, and there was nothing unusual about its play last week.

Monday, PHS defeated Hun, 5-0, sweeping all matches in straight sets as Andre Eichenberger, Dan Aronovic and Phil Ebersole won singles matches. Dan Schulman and Steve Ebersole in one pairing and Dan Amarel and Kevin Little won both doubles.

Earlier in the week, coach Bill Humes' Little Tigers advanced in the first round of state tournament competition, defeating Franklin Township, 5-0. Schulman was a singles winner in that match.

PHS was scheduled to play Manasquan next in its attempt to defend its Central Jersey Group III crown.

Also last week, PHS won its "umpteenth Mercer County championship," in the words of Bill Humes, when it stopped Ewing for a 10-0 county record. PHS was undefeated last year, too, in county play.

Princeton's final dual match of the season will be against Lawrenceville School on Thursday on the Lawrenceville campus.

TENNIS WINNERS NAMED

At Indoor Center. The Princeton Indoor Tennis Center announced the winners of the Women's Tennis League, which concluded its 30-week indoor season last week under the direction of Julie White. In all, 65 women participated on a weekly basis and results were determined by cumulative point scores.

The winner of the Monday morning league was Jessica Hughes of Hightstown. The Monday afternoon league's top scorer was Kay Hamel of Princeton. The most improved player was Belrena Keleman of Princeton Junction.

Shirley Porter of Hightstown emerged the victor of the Wednesday league, with Lorraine Haws of Cranbury in second place and Barbara Vilkomenson of Princeton and Joan Lynch of Cranbury tying for the most improved player prize.

Friday's advanced tournament league was won by Karen Bull of Princeton, with Laura Goldfeld runner-up. Lynn McChristian of Princeton Junction was selected the most improved player.

Men's Results. The Men's league consisted of two groups of nearly 40 players who also competed for 30 weeks. The winner of the Sunday league was Sam Payne of Cranbury, with the most improved player award going to Joe Pardi, also of Cranbury.

Top honors in Saturday's league went to Eric Brown of Jamesburg. Princeton's Alex Wojciechowicz received

FOUR TEAMS UNBEATEN

In Business Softball. Educational Testing Service continued on its march to another league title by scoring a 28 to 16 win over previously unbeaten Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Labs. Two home runs by Jerry Murphy and a grand slam by Bill Degler lead the attack. Bud Moxim homered for the losers.

Forrestal also remained unbeaten by overpowering RCA (B) team 16 to 2. Forrestal meets ETS in what is now an annual rivalry next week. Tom Wunderlich's two home runs lead the way.

Dave Mansue's 4 for 5 and Eddie Gudusky's 3 for 4 paced RCA (A) team to a 15 to 9 decision over American Cyanamid. In a good defensive game Cities Service beat First National Bank of Princeton 5 to 1. Al Anderson and K. Cichocki had home runs for the winners.

In a make up of a postponed game First National bounced back from its defeat of Cities Service by trouncing Ingersoll Rand 22 to 6. FNB had home runs from Nick Panicaro, Dave Tessein, and Jim Brooks.

Home runs by winning pitcher Chet Rue and Al Pizzutello paced McGraw Hill to a 15 to 3 victory over winless United Jersey Banks. Harry Gooding homered for UJB.

ERC handed National Computer Analysts its third straight loss with a 9 to 3 win in an error-filled game. North American Philips Lighting won its first game of the young season with the help of Mount Vernon Washington's 3-run home run. The final score was NAPLC 15 PDS 3.

Finally, Firmenich led by Ray Faulkner's 3 for 4 and Tom Hummer's 3 for 4 including a home run, downed Ingersoll Rand 22 to 7. Yaros and Edwards had home runs for the losers.

TOP CYCLISTS HERE

For 40-Mile Saturday Race. Two national champion bicycle racers are expected to duel again this Saturday for top honors in the second annual Princeton Criterium Bicycle Race.

Sixty of the top amateur cyclists in the East will be competing in the 65 kilometer (40 mile) event which will lap the Princeton High School campus, beginning at 4. The starting line is near the Walnut Lane entrance to the John Witherspoon School.

While national champion Bobby Phillips, last year's winner, is expected to find his main rival in Dave Chauner, the runner-up in the 1973 event, three other national champions as well as the Trinidad champion Pat Gellineau will be riding hard for the $750 in prizes. The race is sponsored by the Travelers Insurance Co. and Raleigh Industries.

A points system based on sprints every five laps determines the champion. Points for the eight designated laps are added together to determine the winner.

The riders' ages range from 17 to 40, according to officials of Princeton's Century Road Club of America, the race's promoter. It predicts that the average speed of the race will again approach 30 miles per hour. Last year it was 28.3.

TOURNAMENTS PLANNED

For Adults In Tennis. Plans for adult tennis activities this spring and summer have been announced by John Bauman and Julie White, co-chairmen for the summer tournament sponsored by The Community Tennis Program.

The 1974 men's and women's tournament has been renamed the "Greater Princeton Open", to be sponsored jointly by the Community Tennis Program, the Recreation Board and the YM-YWCA. The Youth Tennis Foundation has offered the use of the Tennis Office at 71 University Place as a clearinghouse and center of information for these events.

Those interested in working with this group should call White (921-8047) or Bauman (924-6927).

Starting Monday, the Recreation Department will sponsor a spring and summer Women's Doubles - Competitive League. Application for teams should be filled out at the Recreation office in the old Valley Road School. Depending on the response, several leagues consisting of ten doubles teams will run for a five-week period, playing two matches a week. For further information about the leagues, call Jackie Oekerlander (924-7433) or Laura Goldfeld (921-2820).

For those who wish to enter tournaments this summer, the Community Tennis Office now has for sale at $1 per copy the 1974 Middle States Yearbook. The book contains the complete list of junior and adult sanctioned USLTA tournaments in the Middle States section (New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Delaware).

This year, in addition to its usual list of junior and adult instructional classes and special events, the Community Tennis Program summer brochure contains a list of area adult tournaments with a tear-out entry blank. A copy may be obtained at the various courts in the area, at any sporting goods store, from coaches and phys ed teachers in the schools, as well as at the Community Tennis Office, 71 University Place, 924-4343.

BLIND CHESS SET

At Princeton Y. Blind Chessmaster Al Sandrin of Chicago will compete simultaneously against three challengers of the Princeton YMCA Chess Club this Thursday at 8.

DAVID BOWEN, PHS sophomore, doesn't always play in singles competition for the PHS tennis team but when he does he is effective.

Mr. Sandrin, who has been blind since age 15, will be in Trenton this weekend, competing in the 1974 United States National Blind Chess Championship meeting at 310 South Broad Street. The public is invited to attend the competition Thursday at the Princeton YMCA and the weekend tournament. There is no charge.

Mr. Sandrin competes by picturing the board and moves in his mind.

The Blind Chess Competition is intended to bring attention to the Foundation for Retinitis Pigmentosa, a disease causing blindness. Seven of 10 players in the Trenton tournament are blind as a result of Retinitis Pigmentosa.

PRINCETONIAN AT PENN

Rows in 150-lb. Crew. Clifford Lamar of 6 Greenhouse Drive played a key role in a successful season rowing for the University of Pennsylvania's lightweight crew this spring.

With Lamar regularly in the bow of the lightweight shell, Penn won three out of four cup races and placed second in the Eastern Sprint Rowing Championships. The Quakers captured the Matthews Cup over Cornell on Lake Cayuga and took the Dodge Cup by beating Yale and Columbia before losing the Wood-Hammond Cup to Princeton. The following week, the lightweight eight won the Callow Cup, downing Navy but lost to M.I.T., which was not competing for the cup, in the same race.

At the Eastern championships on May 11, Lamar, a sophomore at Penn and a graduate of Milton Academy, and his teammates finished second only to Harvard. Although losing the race, Penn was able to avenge in the Easterns its only three previous losses of the year. The Quakers' shell completed the 2000-meter course on Lake Quinsigammond in Worcester, Massachusetts, ahead of M.I.T., Rutgers, and Princeton, which had all beaten Penn earlier in the season.

TENNIS LEAGUES BUSY

In West Windsor, Jim Bishop, Joe Campion and Harry Wyckoff widened their lead in the West Windsor Recreation Department men's late doubles league and now have eight points. Three teams are tied for second place with four.

This past week, the Bishop-Campion-Wyckoff team triumphed over the Dick Armstrong-Bill Schneider-Len Sobelman team. The three second place teams are the Joe Gonzalez-Ron Novak-Al Smith combination; the Robert Halpin-Gordon Hansen-Dave Sifter trio and the Marty Birnbaum-Bob Murray-Ken Syberg team.

The women's doubles league finds the team of Adelle Budd-Toni Kole and Donna Smith all alone in the lead with seven points. Tied for second in the ten-team league is the threesome of Marilyn Dey-Myra Hochman and Pat Fallon and the team of Lillian Black-Noreen Fallon and Gwen Hansen. In fourth place, with five points, is the Emily Hunter-Derrith Kavanaugh and Mary Lou Syberg combination.

In the men's early doubles league, which had a five-way tie for first place last week, there is now a three way tie for the top position. The three leaders are: Ron Babington-Reeves Black-Bob Rogers; Hilton Anderson-Gary Fallon-Pat Summers; and the team of Lew Coleman-Henry Fallon-Dave Singer. Right behind the leaders are three other teams in the ten-team league: John DiPolvere-Bob Evans-Bob Nielsen; Ralph Bloom-Tony Zuccarello-Tom Boyer; and Rick Gordon-Jay Sexton and Bill Van Luven. Four of these top six teams play against each other this week, so the standings will be considerably altered.

PDS MAKES B TOURNEY

Faces Wardlaw. Princeton Day School, which began its season by losing three games but which has played .666 ball since then, has been selected as the fourth team in the New Jersey State B prep baseball tournament. The Panthers will play Wardlaw Country Day in the first round, possibly this Friday. The other entries are Pennington Prep and Neumann Prep.

The Panthers clinched their position last week, when they defeated Hun, 4-1, behind the strong pitching of junior Glen Russio, who at one point retired 16 consecutive batters. They lost to the Perkiomen School Friday, 3-2, to even their season's record at 6-6.

The schedule calls for PDS to host the Pennsylvania School for the Deaf on Wednesday, and then play Morristown-Beard on Friday. That game may be rescheduled for next week if PDS and Wardlaw settle on that day for their game, which will be played on a neutral field.

Coach Tom DeVito figured to pitch Terry Ward, the much improved senior, against the Pennsylvania School for the Deaf, the save Russo for the opening tournament game.

At Tuesday's practice, DeVito announced captains for this year and next. Ward, Rick Fein and Ted Brown, all seniors, were designated to lead the team down the homestretch this year. Russo, Gary Salup and Brad Marcus will be captains next year.
